Suzi Hudson

Suzi,
I just get to know
you and the next year you go to different school, all you had to do was tell me if I acted that bad, you didn't have to go to all the trouble of changing schools. Paula and I have had a lot of fun doing nothing in Spanish class, you should have been here. Hope to see you this summer.

Mike Rosser
Sr. 70

Paula,
We had a lot of fun this year, at least Mr. Martinez's class. Hope you will finally get around to going out with me (like you never did during school). Hope to see you next year & this summer.

Love
Mike

Uncertainty

The uncertainty of a new beginning —
A clean blackboard
you write on.
Fear of the unfamiliar,
2400 strange faces,
bomb scares,
few friends —
Yet possibilities lie ahead.
One comes from Switzerland
by plane
another from Stonegate
to an over-crowded parking lot.
Construction, building like the year
piece by piece.
A western "Howdy Week" breaks the ice and new routine.
Roll sheets, bells, announcements day after day.

Creativity

Creativity is an expression of self
to others.
It may be utilitarian, still it requires a part of the creator.
Caring,
understanding,
just plain interest.
Through guidance,
a helping hand
creativity is molded into spirit signs,
dramatic interpretations,
the number one art student in Oklahoma—growing individuals result.

Dedication

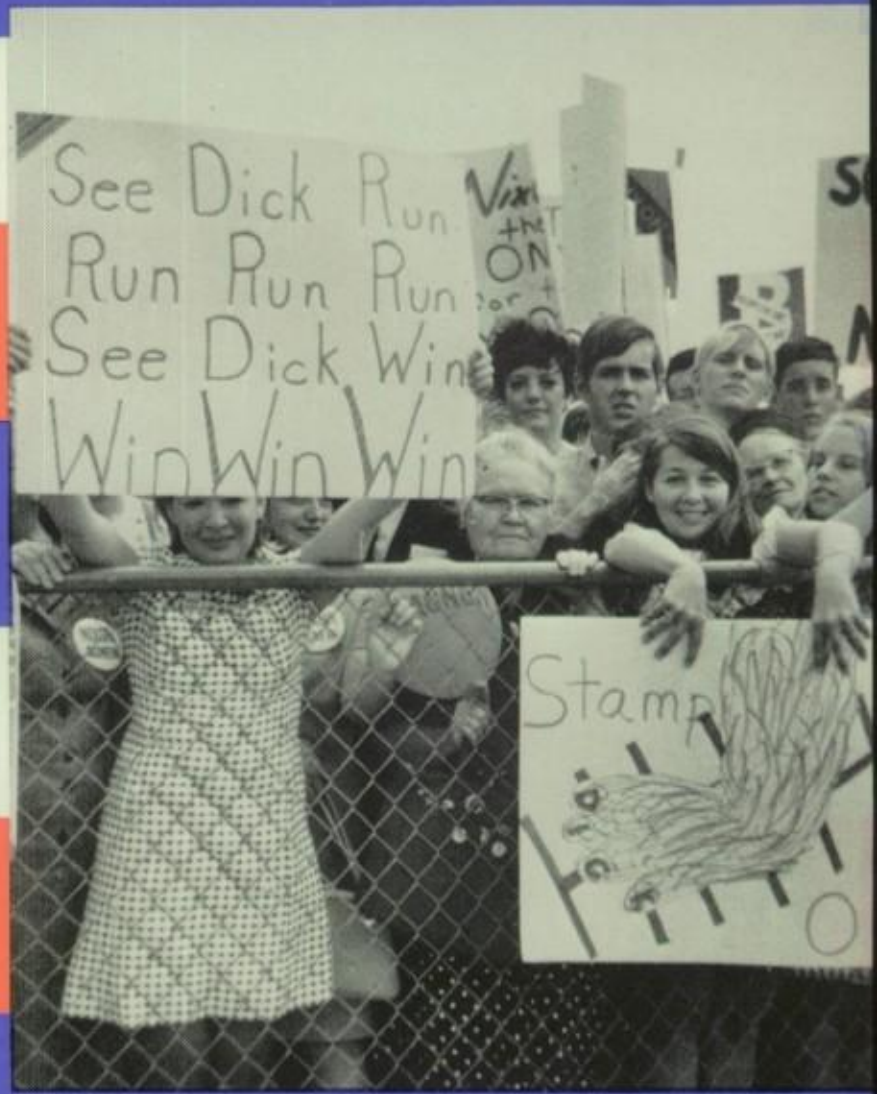

Dedication to an ideal —
a person,
a cause.
As a personality,
an attraction to, supporting of,
another
and his existence
as an individual,
A choice of guidelines — discipline
for results.
Constant coping with small details for great achievement.

Dedication

Dedication to an ideal —
a person,
a cause.

As a significant part of the whole,
the backing
of a thought, personified
in leadership.

A call for help met
as a group
through individual service.
Dedication
to others.

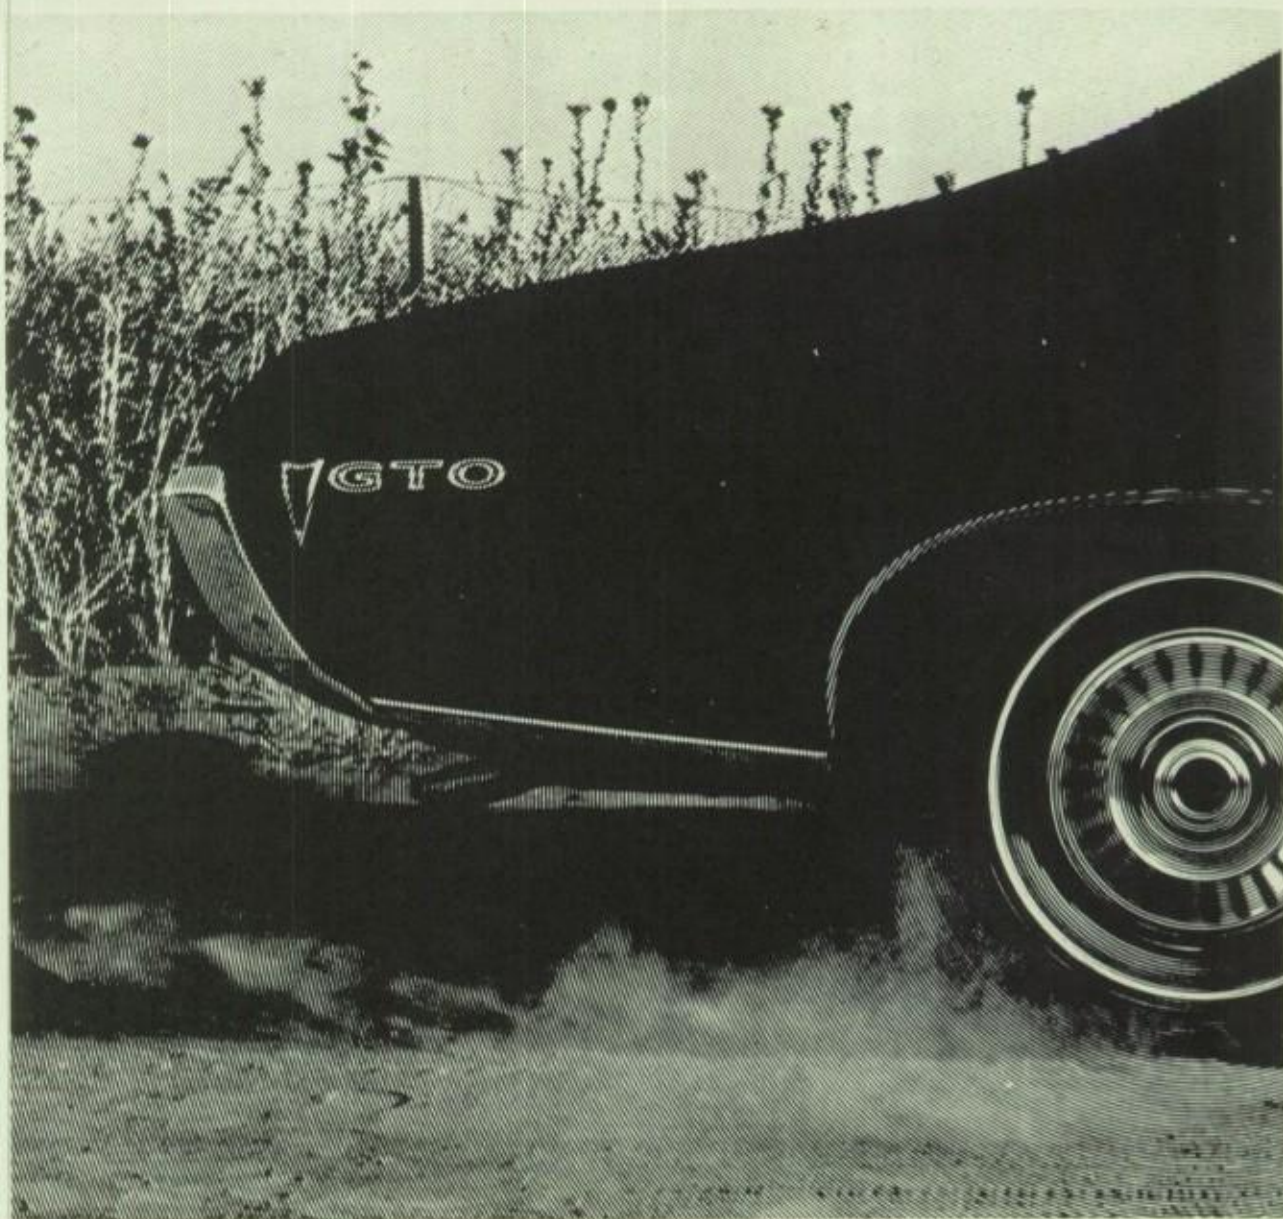

Pride

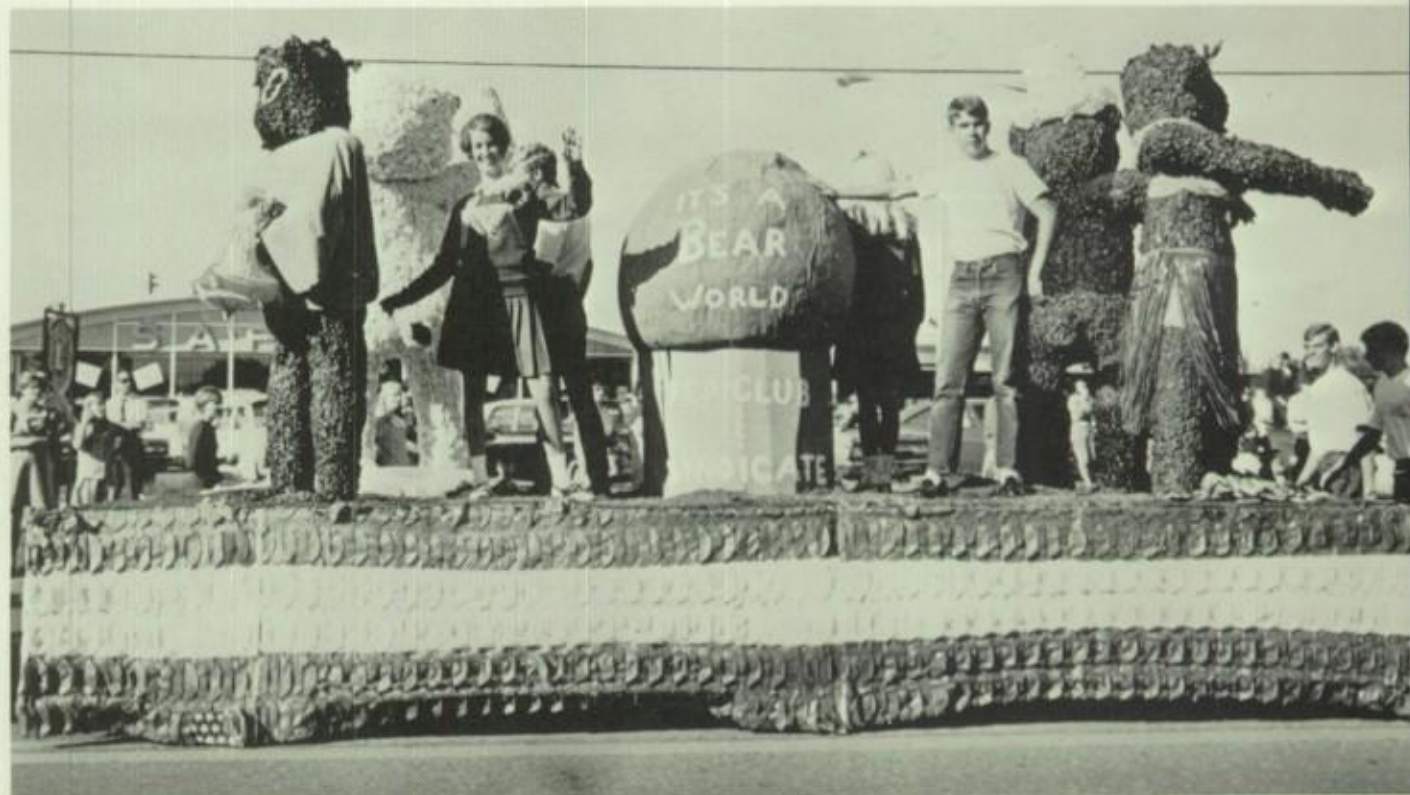

Pride is felt,
then demonstrated
in attitude, conduct.
It is a possession long hoped for,
worked toward;
doing something better,
or best;
watching someone close to you painstakingly overcome
a problem;
receiving recognition.

Success

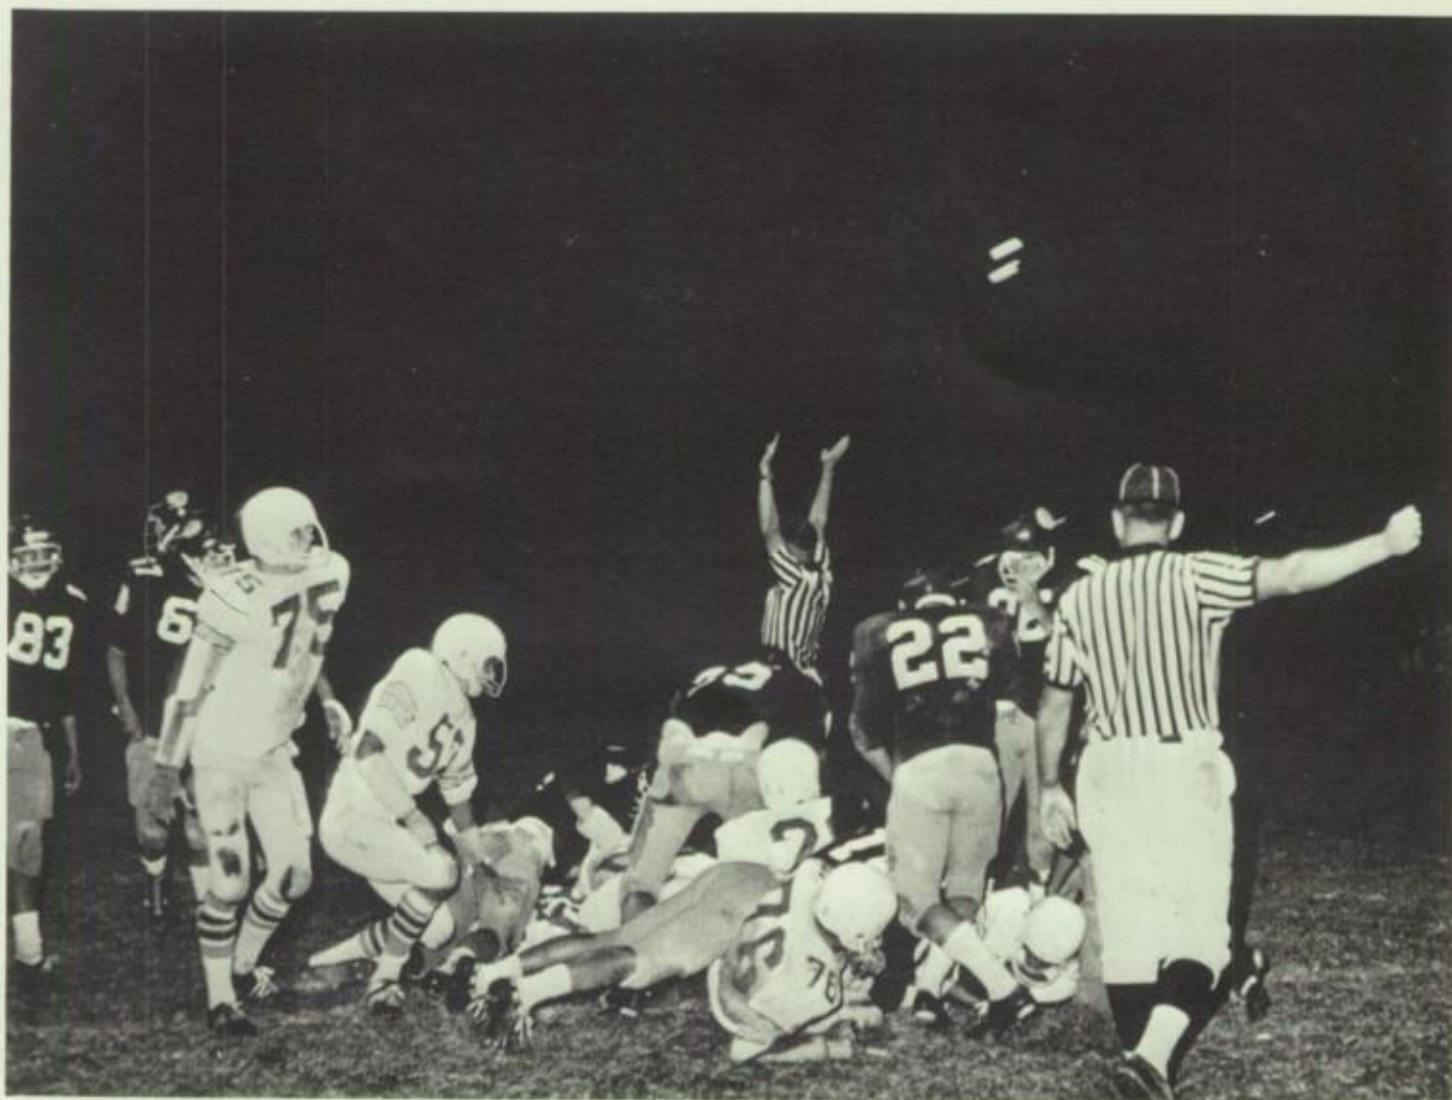

Success

after a long, hard climb.
Creativity, dedication, pride paying off
in grand style
or an invisible way, but very real —
a state championship,
a plant bursting forth with life.

It may be public or personal;
but it means another step,
giant or small,
in the right direction.

Administration

Passes New Dress Code; Opens Parking Lot Gates

This year the administrative staff was faced with the largest enrollment since John Marshall became a high school. With the addition of over 400 students, decisions were made concerning the dress code and keeping the parking lots open. Using money granted by the Board of Education, a new parking lot was opened in October. The administration, consisting of a principal and two assistants, divided duties among them. Such things as daily attendance, discipline, intercom announcements, control of school property, and faculty correlation took precedence.

HELEN ALLSBROOK — Financial Secretary

Left: FRAN BISSONETTE — Registrar

The increase in students this year made the hiring of four new secretaries necessary. The guidance secretary was relieved of double duty as a study hall aide by the hiring of three instructional aides. They kept attendance, typed and scored tests for study halls and television classes. Added to the library staff was a secretary in charge of visual aids, copying machines, and periodicals. The returning secretaries were the financial secretary, guidance secretary, registrar, three administrative secretaries, and the library clerk.

Face Increasing Duties with Expanding Enrollments

With the beginning of a new school year, the problem of a 400-pupil enrollment increase faced the guidance office. Over 2000 requests for schedule changes added to the dilemma.

A few of the routine tasks which had to be dealt with by the staff of four counselors included writing college recommendations, advising students, checking seniors' credits, and interpreting test scores. Other duties divided among the two men and two women were such things as administering tests and giving information concerning scholarships, special education and careers.

Faculty

Prepares for Summer Study; Adds Twelve Positions

Mr. Bob Pansze and Mrs. Louanne Ward check their faculty mailboxes for information and bulletins preparing them for the day.

Enrollment increases qualified John Marshall for twelve new faculty positions this year. Fifteen other teachers filled vacancies created by last year's resignations, making a total of 27 new faculty members. Six of those were first-year teachers, while others came from other Oklahoma schools, and out of state. Still interested in their education, 24 teachers went to summer school. With the increase in faculty and students, a few teachers had to share class rooms, and many found themselves using the library or a vacant office or storage room during planning periods.

Material Coordinated to Interest, Enrich Students

Each academic department was headed by a chairman who, among other things, decided on the texts. The chairmen also helped coordinate use of such audio-visual aids as records, tapes, overhead projectors, and filmstrips. Lesson plans among department members were correlated to prevent overlapping of teaching material. Each department served as a separate part of the curriculum. Together they provided a variety of interests to enrich the education of each student.

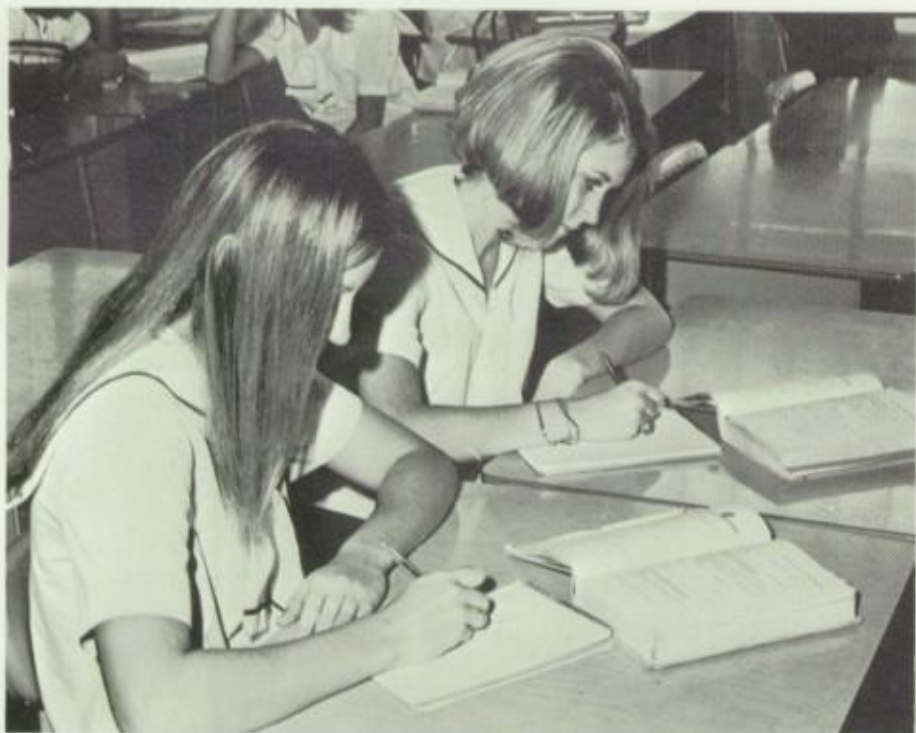

As chairman of the mathematics department, Miss Myrtle Seright finds one of her many duties is organizing check lists of new textbooks before first-of-school distribution.

Business Education

Dixie Drinkwater and Marilyn Blythe practice new principles in Mrs. Louise Hill's Shorthand I class.

Opportunities and advantages of a business career were introduced to students through several business education classes. Two new classes, Business English and Business Law, were added. Other courses already in the curriculum were Shorthand and Transcription, Typing I and II, Accounting I and II, and Business Machines. The department gained new Gregg typing books and twelve electric IBM typewriters. Tape recorders and textbooks were used to give dictation; overhead projectors were used to demonstrate accounting methods.

Above: Senior Rebecca Nance finds the patterns of j-u-j and d-e-d get routine after an hour in her Typing I class.

Right: American Literature teacher Mrs. Geraldine Kidd, suggests to Linda Stratton that the latest football articles replace an old Student Council agenda.
Below: English Literature students in Mrs. Bessie Shofstall's class review for a test on Shakespeare's "Macbeth."

Above: Kenny Altshuler discusses a point concerning the death of Moby Dick in Mr. William Faulk's American Literature class.

Included in the busy schedule of each student was the ever-present English class. For each class this meant a different procedure. Seniors wrote essays explaining such novels as "Return of the Native" and "Shakespeare of London." A new world of literature and composition was opened to juniors. In some American Literature classes juniors wrote autobiographies with symbols of the Delaware Indians. Teaching the meaning of words by their prefixes and suffixes was one of the aims of the sophomore teachers, while the usual grammar was included. Creative writing and Great Books classes were offered again to accelerated students.

Mrs. Catherine Parnell's sophomore English class participates in a class discussion of George Eliot's "Silas Marner" early in November.

Fine Arts

Above: Under the direction of Mr. Rodger Robinson, the band receives instructions for next week's game before going onto the field to practice marching maneuvers.

Right: Preston Pugh, sporting the drum major's uniform he designed, leads the Bear band in beginning the Homecoming parade.

Encouraging individual and group talent, the Fine Arts department includes several choral organizations, marching and concert band, orchestra, and various art classes. Boasting new uniforms, the choir this year performed selections from Handel's "Messiah" in their Christmas concert. The band presented two major concerts, at Christmas and in the spring. A newly-designed drum major's uniform and new majorette uniforms were added to the department. Art classes were among few in the school with smaller enrollment than in past years. This made more individual work in such media as water color and oils possible.

Foreign Language

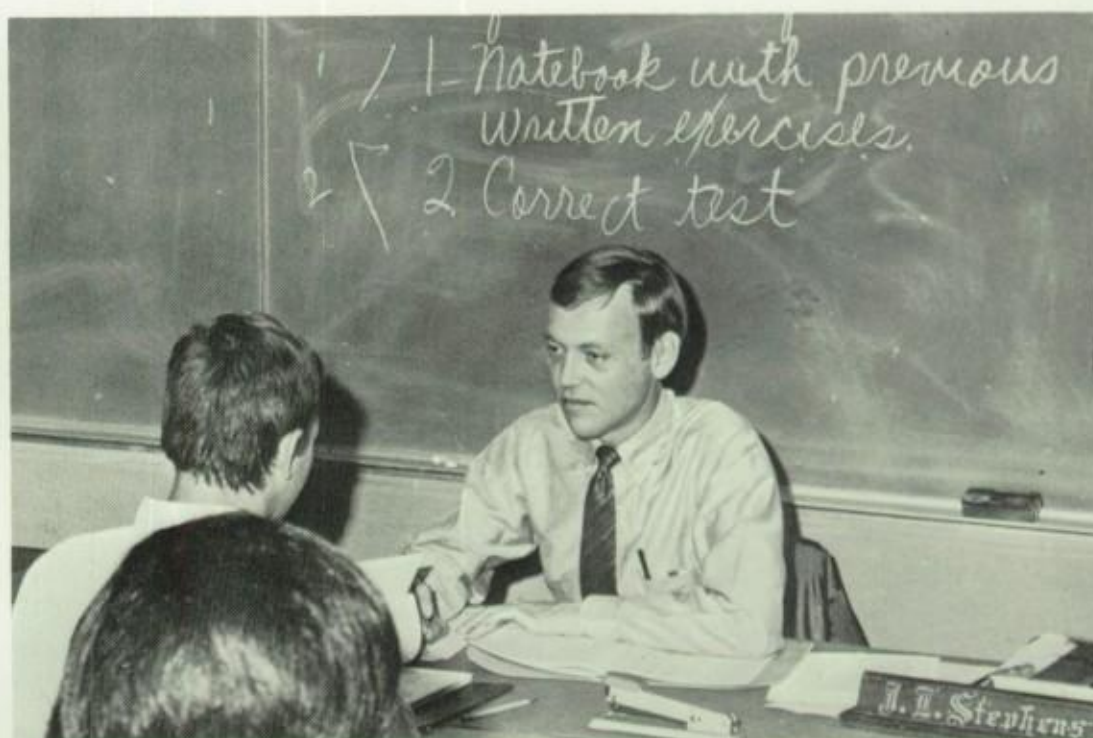

The language lab aids Mrs. Della Fagin in preparing students for a possible career in French.

Communications between people and nations is essential in this fast moving world. In keeping pace with progress, the foreign language department offered courses in Latin, Spanish, German, and French. Included with the basic oral curriculum were such things as native speakers, slides, and singing sessions. The latest additions were paperbacks such as "Bossignils en Cage" and "Promenades en Normandie" novels assigned to French students, and collected short stories, "Imaginacion Fantasia" assigned to Spanish classes.

Mrs. Donna Guinn, new to John Marshall this year, watches the controls and students simultaneously during practice in the Spanish language lab.

Home Economics

Above: With the "wicked witch of the East" peering over their shoulders, Susan Burke, Steffi Woods and Donna Arthur study assignments in Home Economics.

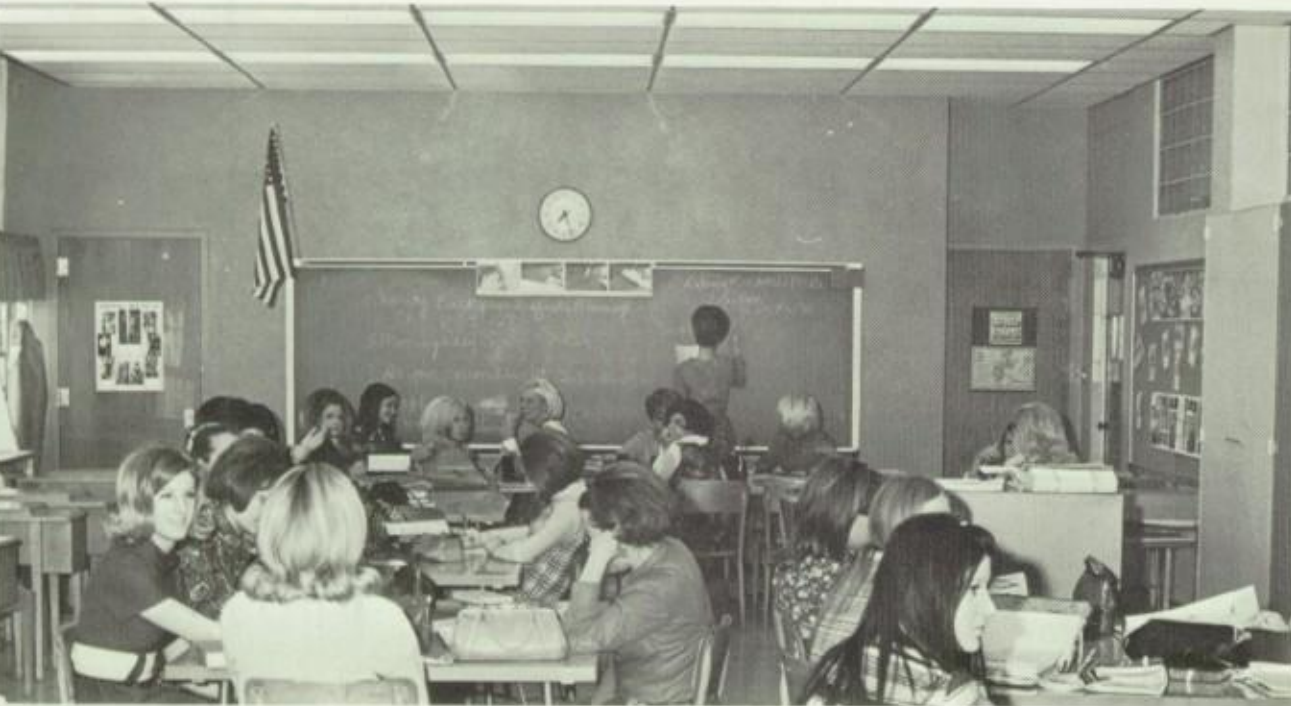

Through four courses involving related material, Family Living-Child Guidance, Home Planning and Home Decoration, students in the Home Economics department worked toward becoming better future home-makers. Rational solutions for the problems of adequate food, clothing, housing, and social adjustment were obtained through research and discussion. As a part of one Family Living unit, a panel of boys discussed dating, dress, and related topics with the girls. The Home Economics curriculum included instruction for building a wardrobe, preparing meals, and designing interiors.

Discussion by a guest panel of junior and senior boys in the family relations class includes their ideas on such topics as dating, dress, and sex.

Mathematics

General math, algebra, and geometry courses offered this year to all students provided a basic knowledge of some fundamentals used in everyday living. The more advanced mathematics courses of trigonometry, analytics, and math analysis were available for those students wishing to go into specialized fields. Each one of these classes was designed to give a choice of methods used to solve various types of mathematical puzzles. With modernized textbooks and an enlarged staff of teachers, students prepared for future encounters with mathematics.

Fundamentals of the Pythagorean Theorem are explained by Mr. Thomas Hutchinson to his first hour geometry class.

Above: From the theorems, postulates, and what is given, Robert Miller explains the reasons behind the proof on the board in his geometry class. Right: Electronics I class learns about the complexity of circuit problems from Mr. Miller Tiger who also teaches High School Math.

Occupational Education

The occupational education department offers the non-college bound student a variety of classes to prepare him for the future, and the college bound student an opportunity for part-time work. This year John Marshall offered cosmetology for the first time, teaching hair styling and coloring methods. Another new class in its first full year was auto mechanics. Courses such as distributive education, vocational foods, mechanical drawing, and vocational agriculture were also taught again this year at John Marshall.

Physical Education

In 1968-'69 the physical education department had a variety of individual and team sports to develop the student's potential. The boys competed against each other in flag football, softball, and basketball, while gymnastics was offered for the first time.

Badminton, tennis, horseshoes, and ping pong were also added to the P. E. department.

Girls competed in tennis, volleyball, softball, and basketball. Track, tumbling, ping pong, and folk dancing were also offered to girls.

David Bardwell drives for a basket while learning new techniques in Coach Byron Roberts' first-hour basketball class.

A portion of the advanced physical education class overdoes a pyramid exercise while attempting to develop coordination, flexibility, and agility.

Demonstrating the proper execution of the jumping jack exercise, senior Jenny Childs joins the rest of Mrs. Bertie Hawthorn's physical education class.

Safety Education

Illustrating the "ten and two" position, Mr. Toney Lackey, chairman of the safety education department, shows Cinda Collins the correct way to hold a steering wheel.

Driver's Education became a three-car three-teacher class again this year. Cars used for on-the-road training were donated by Pugh-Holmes Ford and the Clark Motor Company. Students of Drivers' Education were required to participate in classroom studies and drive-o-trainers; and to meet state education requirements the students were allowed to drive behind the wheel once each week. The safety education program was designed to train students in defensive driving. Upon course completion students were ready for state drivers' license examination.

Science

A staff of five full-time teachers was needed this year to accommodate the large number of science students. For needed space two regular classrooms were converted to biology, chemistry, and physics labs. Because of the large sophomore enrollment in biology, there was a slight shortage of textbooks. Audio visual equipment was used as in the past to supplement books, experiments, and teachers' lectures. For advanced students, a science seminar class was offered emphasizing individual research.

Foreign exchange student, Elizabeth Aellen from Geneva, Switzerland, finds a part of her orientation into the western way of life comes in Miss Mary Lockwood's biology class.

From the results of a biology investigation, Kathy O'Brien, Terry Wright, Janis Frese, and Marty Stupka conclude that life does not arise from spontaneous generation.

Social Studies

Republican Representative Ralph Thompson discusses his views on local and national politics with Mrs. Annetta McCoy's psychology class in preparation for November's elections.

Discussion classes exploring man's behavior were offered by the social studies department. Psychology classes employed free discussion, records, and play writing, and studied such subjects as popular movies and abortion laws. World History classes heard speakers on lesser known religions which have influenced the hippie movement and probed the question, "Who is man?" Sociology classes discussed controversial topics of the new morality, premarital sex, and drug addiction. A panel of students from other city schools discussed human relations. Economics classes heard speakers including Democratic and Republican state chairmen and former Governor J. Howard Edmondson.

Service Personnel

The clinic was kept busy this year with the screening of 1,000 new sophomores for physical handicaps and eye, ear, or throat infections. The custodial staff of 12 kept the building in working order and the grounds mowed and trimmed. The library was the center for research and study as two librarians and their 19 aides were kept busy. The cafeteria staff also saw demands increase with the larger enrollment.

Art Club

Constructing background scenes, Art Club members Linda Wilmoth and Mary Endres prepare for the Art assembly

It isn't body painting but preparations for the Art Club's assembly which occupy the time of Pam Peschl and Judy Kratzer as they diligently apply brushes to a project

A variety of projects and activities kept Art Club members busy this year. The club participated in competition with other city high schools in painting psychedelic murals at the Oklahoma State Fair. Members presented a special assembly for the student body in which backdrops and overhead projections supplemented speeches presenting architectural wonders of the world. Excursions were made during the year to art shows, museums, and the Mummers Theater.

Members of the Chefs Club began the year by placing fourth in a Cheese Festival at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater. Organized to promote interest in gainful food service employment, the club sold novelty breads and turkeys for the holidays. Funds were used for a trip to Dallas to purchase new equipment. Members also appeared on the Wayne Liles TV show and saw demonstrations from local chefs.

Distributive Education Club

This year the Distributive Education Club worked for a more productive organization. Members attended one hour of classroom instruction where they received lessons in salesmanship and marketing.

After classes the students worked at various jobs where they received credit toward graduation. A new activity this year was a stepped-up money-raising campaign. A garage sale was held, and a bumper sticker sale added to the funds. Money raised went to pay for the employer-employee banquet in the spring.

Striving for close communication between countries, the Foreign Exchange Committee was responsible for finding and housing a foreign exchange student this year. The committee is part of the Red Cross Organization and was first formed at John Marshall in 1965. Their purpose was to have the students participate in choosing the exchange student. This year the committee sponsored an assembly and fund-raising drive to earn money for next year's student. During the meetings, the members heard speakers including Elisabeth Aellen, this year's exchange student.

Work is begun on the newly established French newsletter as Lynn Mowbray, Ava Kennedy and Holly Martin edit copy for their "Mistletoe Project."

Working for a better understanding of the French and their way of life, the French Club planned a variety of activities for the year. New to the club this year was the French newsletter which included stories and poems written by the French classes. Some of the club's activities were a progressive dinner, caroling at Christmas and a trip to New Orleans in the spring.

It's a team effort to gather mistletoe as Robert Miller, Julie Miller, and Jane Adams discover while collecting the state flower for a Christmas project.

Future Business Leaders

During this year, members of Future Business Leaders sold books to the adult education classes and spirit banners sporting the slogan, "Go Bears" to raise money for club activities and projects. They had as their purpose developing competent aggressive business leadership and creating interest and understanding in the choice of business occupations. Royalty was added to the club for the first time.

Future Farmers of America members kept busy this year buying and selling livestock and attending local and national shows. John Marshall is unique in that it is the only school in the Oklahoma City district with an FFA chapter. The chapter has its own barn with facilities to care for sheep and cattle. A greenhouse is also unique to John Marshall. Plants are cultivated here for use all over the City system.

On-the-job training, one activity of Future Teachers, helped members prepare for prospective careers in teaching. In the spring, the club held a school visitation project, in which members visited elementary schools and observed teaching methods. The club offered a scholarship to the graduating senior with most outstanding promise as a future teacher. Members also attended a state conference at U. S. Grant, held their annual style show, and listened to guest speakers.

Organized to honor juniors and seniors with high scholastic averages and fine character, the National Honor Society installed new initiates in the fall and spring. To qualify for membership, a student must have maintained a grade point average of 3.5 for two consecutive semesters. The organization seeks to promote enthusiasm for scholarship and to stimulate a desire to render service to the school.

Concentration on her math assignment by Barbara Bagwell is typical of the work required for membership in Honor Society.

With a congratulatory handshake, senior Sally Clark is welcomed into the National Honor Society. Doing the honors are principal Robert Cheney and NHS president Chris Hill.

Urging continued effort by initiates, senior Bill Bradford speaks to incoming members at the initiation.

Journalism Staffs: Advocate

ADVOCATE STAFF REPORTERS Seated: Juhree Dickey, Gary Dennis, David Critchfield, Candy Clark. Standing: Val Stanley, Kerry Hunt.

The twenty-six member Advocate Staff concentrated this year on publishing a paper which dealt with significant local, state and national issues. The paper was published twice monthly, and a special feature of the Christmas issue was a four-color picture, first to be used in the paper. Some of the staff traveled to Chicago in November for the National Scholastic Press Association convention.

Attendance at Oklahoma State University's journalism day provides an opportunity for Gretchen Watson, editorial assistant; Jim Blackburn, editor; and Mrs. Louanne Ward, sponsor to receive judgment and evaluation from the University's faculty.

Right: Mrs. Elizabeth Burdette, publications sponsor at Northwest Classen High School, and Leon Myers, co-editor of the Northwest Classen Shield, discuss plans for the train trip to Chicago's National Scholastic Press Association convention with Advocate staffer Kenny Altshuler and Gavel Staff member Jan Winn.

Journalism Staffs: Gavel

The Gavel Staff this year was not only the largest ever, but they worked to produce the largest book. The 1969 Gavel was enlarged to a 9 x 12 Collegiate size with 248 pages.

Special photographic effects with a more extensive use of color made the book unique. Several staff members attended the National Scholastic Press Association Convention in Chicago and OIPA conventions at the University of Oklahoma.

Initial blueprint for the sports section is laid as sports editor Sammy McAdams, co-editor Linda Milne, and copy editor Meg Satterlee outline plans for squad shots of all athletic teams.

Top: Curriculum editor Ashley Dahlgren and her assistant Jan Winn select appropriate faculty photographs as Hillary Hart, royalty editor, plans her section. Assistant index editor Cindy Howeth observes the planning.

Bottom: Assistant copy editors Suzanne Owens and Cathy Gatchell find that preparation of copy for publication involves hours of checking and rewriting.

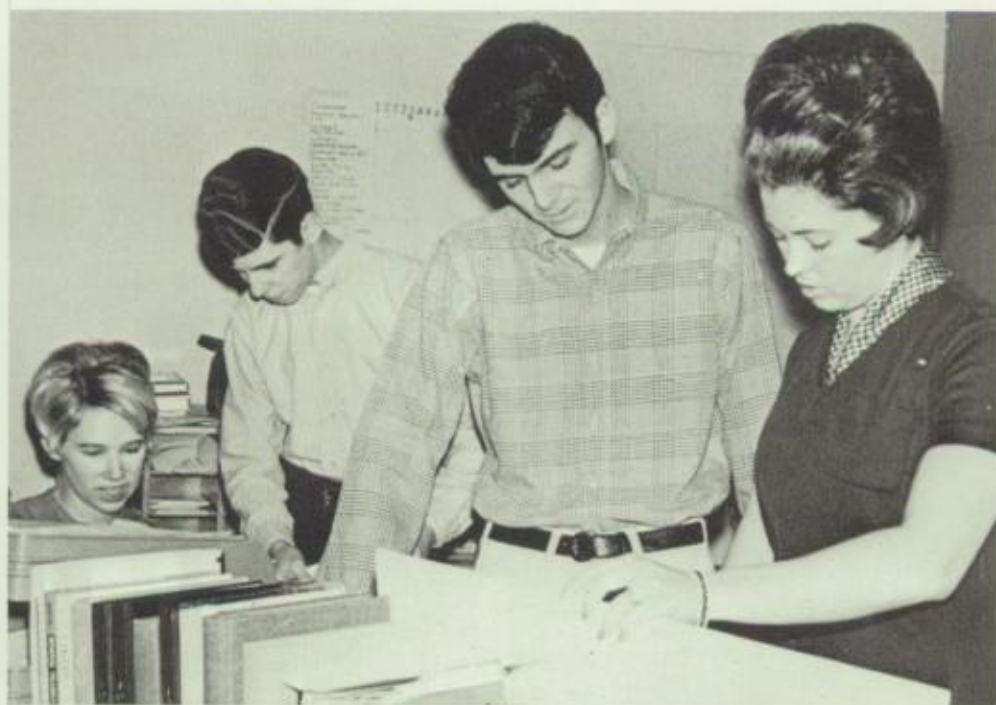

Past years' yearbooks serve as reference for senior editor Nancy Andrews and her assistant Marjorie Hammett as they plan photographs for that section. Senior staff member Nancy Barbour and underclass editor Cindy Coulter check spelling of names on index cards.

Alphabetizing and filing an index card for each person whose picture appears in the yearbook is a necessary part of index editor Jeri Seale's job. Business manager Bonnie Pannell lends a hand.

Mrs. Louanne Ward, yearbook advisor, and co-editor Steve Young discuss layout changes while organizations editor Susan Jennings and her assistant John Gruenig schedule group shots.

Latin Club

Plans for the Latin Club's Saturnalia celebration are laid by Annis Guffey and Miss Carolyn Cherry, sponsor.

A variety of holiday activities and the annual banquet entertained the Latin Club this year. They began the year by entering a float in the Homecoming parade. At Halloween they sponsored a party to which members came dressed as mythological characters. During the Christmas season they sang carols in Latin. For the spring banquet members recreated the original Roman banquets by importing slaves from the junior high schools. They also attended state and local conventions.

Getting in practice for the Latin Club banquet, members Nancy Remp, John Meador, Linda Clary, Bobby Major, and Jane McCauley "do as the Romans do."

Search in the card catalog is the first step for library assistant Susan Graham as she helps a student find necessary materials for his term paper.

Assistance to the students and faculty was the main objective of this year's Student Library Assistants. Some of their duties included shelving books, working at the charge desk and demonstrating the use of such materials as filmstrips, tapes, and microreaders. Throughout the year the club visited other libraries and observed their techniques and organization. The club sold Christmas cards during the holiday season, and senior aides were honored at a special recognition luncheon at the end of the year.

The Math and Science Clubs met on alternate Wednesdays this year. The Math Club was comprised of those students interested in mathematics who maintained a B average. Their purpose was to promote the enjoyment of math among high school students. The national mathematics tests were sponsored in the spring by the group. The Science Club revamped their mode of operations this year by cutting down on the lecture aspect of meetings. One such change involved a discussion of "College Bowl" questions in the field of science.

The year was filled with different activities for the John Marshall orchestra, starting with a joint concert with the band performed for parents. The performances varied from the "Messiah" at Christmas to a spring concert. They attended district contests at Edmond and performed at the Music Educators Association where they were honored as one of the top orchestras in the state.

Music: Band

Serving the musical needs of the school and community, John Marshall's band prepared for marching contests, parades and football games during the year. Daily drilling of intricate patterns and formations each morning before school led the band to a superior rating and a trophy for superior field marching at regional contest. Throughout the year, band members concentrated on individual and group performances for spring contests, festivals, and clinics.

Talent, enthusiasm and determination characterized members of Choraleers, and Choir. Both groups presented Christmas programs at school and the choir performed on WKY-TV and on the telethon for Cerebral Palsy. The Choraleers sang selections from Broadway in an assembly for the student body in the spring. One of the most important events of the year came in the spring when the groups entered district and state contests.

Appearing both jointly and as individual groups, the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs worked to entertain and represent the school. Whether in assemblies dealing with holiday events or having a spiritual emphasis, the clubs sought to educate the student body musically. A special event of the year for which the clubs prepared was the contest held at Oklahoma City University in March.

National Forensic League

Speech and debate students who earned 25 points by various means such as contest entrance and appearances at civic clubs were eligible for membership in National Forensic League. Various degrees of honor such as degree of merit, excellence, and special distinction were earned by students. Each year the NFL holds student congresses where policy and bills are discussed. Marshall hosted one of these conferences this year.

'O' Club

"O" Club president Tommy Williams escort All-Sports Queen Cindy Ball at her coronation. Each year, the "O" Club nominates the five candidates who are then voted upon by the student body.

The "O" Club's increased effort this year to be an active participant in school activities was felt by the entire school and administration. Hampered by a lack of meetings the first few weeks, the club managed to get back on its feet and promote the spirit of the school. The group had several activities on schedule, including a barn dance the first semester and a three-day fishing trip at the end of the year. This year proved to be a good year for the club as membership doubled from the beginning of the year.

Pep Clubs: Cheerleaders

Winning awards was the activity which characterized the John Marshall Cheerleaders this year. They attended the summer clinic at the University of Oklahoma and once again came home with first place honors. At the State clinic, the group received the second perfect score ever given in the clinic's eighteen-year history. Elections were held in the spring to replace the six senior cheerleaders.

Membership of nearly 450 girls was reached as the J-Mette Pep Club sported new spring blouses. The pepsters planned and participated in numerous spirit projects. Promoting school pride in fields other than sports, the J-Mettes contributed $107 to the United Appeal drive. They participated in the annual Toys for Tots collection. Committees were chosen in the fall to begin preparation for the annual pep club dance held in the spring honoring athletes of all sports.

Hosts at an All-City pep club team in August, the Tri-Kette Pep Club gained ideas for projects used throughout the year. New spring uniforms, white cotton blouses trimmed in red, supplemented the traditional wool sweater and skirt. Club members participated in Thanksgiving projects for the needy, Christmas gifts for teachers, and bi-monthly spirit projects for the school. In the spring the Tri-Kettes crowned their beau at the annual dance.

Pep Clubs: Syndicate

New to John Marshall this year, the Syndicate was organized in the summer of 1968. The idea was to create a club that would promote spirit among the boys and unify the classes. Led by "spirit spreaders" who posed as cheerleaders for the club, the Syndicate made appearances at many athletic contests and served as an additional pep club. Uniforms were a T-shirt with the word Syndicate emblazoned in blue, an Australian bush hat, blue jeans, and cowboy boots.

A new club was formed this year from the Pickwick Club and productive Thespians creating the Pickwick Players. Members worked to encourage interest in the field of literary creativity. They also produced the all-school literary magazine, "Letters from 9017 N. University" and sponsored several writing contests. Several plays, by both professionals and students, were produced. One of those was "David and Lisa." The club also ushered at Mummings Theater productions.

Red Cross Council sponsor Miss Barbara Eckhardt fills bags to be sent to Vietnam. Each bag is filled with a small toy, a personal item, and some type of school supply.

This year the Red Cross Council offered their service to the community with two projects. The school chest, a wooden box filled with school supplies and health and recreational equipment was sent to refugee centers in Vietnam. The second project was friendship kits. These small bags went to children in Vietnam. Members also did volunteer work at the VA and University Hospitals.

Folding Vietnam friendship kits for the Red Cross Council's project are members Susan Jennings and Kelsey Moody.

Anticipating success in their license plate drive, Safety Council sponsor Mr. John Greene and president Bill Pritchett display one of the tags.

SAFETY CLUB KING and QUEEN — Marta Palmer, Richard Maril.

Safety, service and spirit were promoted by the Safety Council this year. The club was concerned with safety and service to the school and community. Several members worked with representatives from other schools in cleanup activities for Oklahoma City. The safety club's project was successful with the student body this year since members sold JM license plates for all Bears' cars.

Service: Courtesy Club

Chief activities of Courtesy Club consisted of ushering at civic events in the community. Membership was open each semester to junior or senior girls who met requirements. During October club members collected for United Appeal, helped register at the OEA convention, and assisted at a Home Economics dinner. The ushering activities included the National Rodeo Finals, the Ice Capades, and community plays. The final event was the annual Key-Club/Courtesy Club dance.

Joy served as chairman of the dance.

Service: Key Club

Often a leader in school-sponsored activities, the Key Club worked closely with its parent organization, the Britton Kiwanis Club. Members helped in the Christmas Bell Ringing project as well as an all-school cleanup project and a dance for the crowning of the Key Club Sweetheart. In order to help financially, the club held their annual candy sale. Profits went to send a member to the national convention and to buy something of value for the school.

Initiation of new members in the Spanish Club in November brought this year's membership to 40. Qualifications for membership was a B or above in Spanish class for at least two semesters. Club meetings were held on alternate Mondays each month. Speakers from Mexico and Spain who told of trips to those countries highlighted the meetings this year.

Typical of many teachers, Mrs. Inez Heusel teaches five classes and sponsors an organization, the Spanish Club. Here she makes lesson plans with a student teacher, Mr. Joe Ownbey.

Student Council proved to be one of the most active organizations at John Marshall this year by planning and coordinating a wide spectrum of projects. Before school started, officers attended an all-state workshop where JM presided as president, and in November they attended the state convention in Woodward. The Student Council was busy during the first half of the year with various projects such as Bear Rings school directory, United Appeal, and Toys for Tots.

Symphony Hi-Notes

Members of Symphony Hi-Notes worked to promote student interest in symphonic music as well as popular and classical music, and to gain a better understanding of the musical arts. Sponsored by the Women's club of Oklahoma City, the group ushered for symphony concerts, helped in the ticket office and handed out programs at various musical performances at the school and in the community.

Speech and drama students with a special interest in dramatics were able to earn points toward membership in the the National Thespian Society. Membership was granted to those attaining the number of points required. Points were gained by acting, ushering, writing a play, or working backstage. The club presented two productions for the student body and entered a float in the homecoming parade. They finished the year with the annual spring banquet.

Demonstrating the acting ability which helped bring the first place trophy in Class A One-Act Play competition, Rusty Witnah and Eddie Goeas rehearse a scene from "The Brick and the Rose."

Tri-Hi-Y/Hi-Y

Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y worked together this year as a community service organization under the sponsorship of the Northside YMCA. They worked to create and maintain the standards of Christian living. Projects included collecting for UNICEF and donating $100 for the World Service Program. Tri-Hi-Y enjoyed a slumber party, and a joint hay rack ride was held later in the year. Youth in Government program gave the members the opportunity to watch government in action.

With the extension of the school building, it was possible this year to adequately prepare students with an interest in Vocational Industrial Clubs of America.

The club's major purpose was to help members become more responsible citizens and train them for work in beauty and hairstyling. VICA was busy with various projects throughout the year. Entering a float in the Homecoming parade, collecting for a needy family, and gathering toys for tots were only a few of their projects. Occupational contests were entered and placed in by many of the members.

All-Sports Queen

ALL-SPORTS QUEEN—Cindy Ball

Nominations for the 1968 All-Sports Queen were made during September by members of the "O" Club. The club voted and narrowed the number to five candidates—Margaret Shelton, Cindy Ball, Linda Boyce, Robin Leach and Teresa Martin. The student body then made their choice. Results were kept secret until the moment the winner's name was announced at half-time of the Northwest Classen football game and Cindy Ball began her reign.

Following a tradition which honors each year's FFA Sweetheart, club president John Alloway escorts sweetheart Cindy Ball on a dinner date at Val Gene's Restaurant.

Nominated from among all senior girls, the FFA Sweetheart was chosen last spring by members of the Future Farmers organization. Honored as sweetheart was Cindy Ball with her attendant Martha Harrod. Junior attendants were Debbie Peterson and Jeanne Blagg, and sophomore attendants were Cindy Riddle and Linda Starton. Cindy was presented a jacket identifying her as sweetheart, and was honored at various FFA events during the year.

Pep Club Beau Attendants

During regular weekly meetings, J-Mette members nominated fifteen candidates for Pep Club Beau. Each nominee was a senior letterman, and each member had one vote. The top eight boys were voted on again after being introduced to the club. The five boys receiving the most votes were the beau and his attendants.

The top five boys and the sports they lettered in during their senior year were: Gary Conrad, cross country; Johnny Duren, football; Stormy Heiner, football; David Miles, football; and Tommy Williams, football.

Football

Team Posts 5-5 Record; Takes Sixth in Mid-State

Directed by new head coach Don McDonald, John Marshall's football team fared better than the polls predicted finishing in sixth place in the Mid-State Conference race. They sported a 5-5 season record. The year got off to a slow start as the footballers squeaked by Northeast 7-0 and were defeated the next week 34-6 by Putnam City. The outlook improved as in the next two weeks the Bears defeated Capitol Hill 16-0 and Douglass 20-18. Losses to number-one rated Northwest 16-0 and Midwest City 47-12 temporarily halted the winning string.

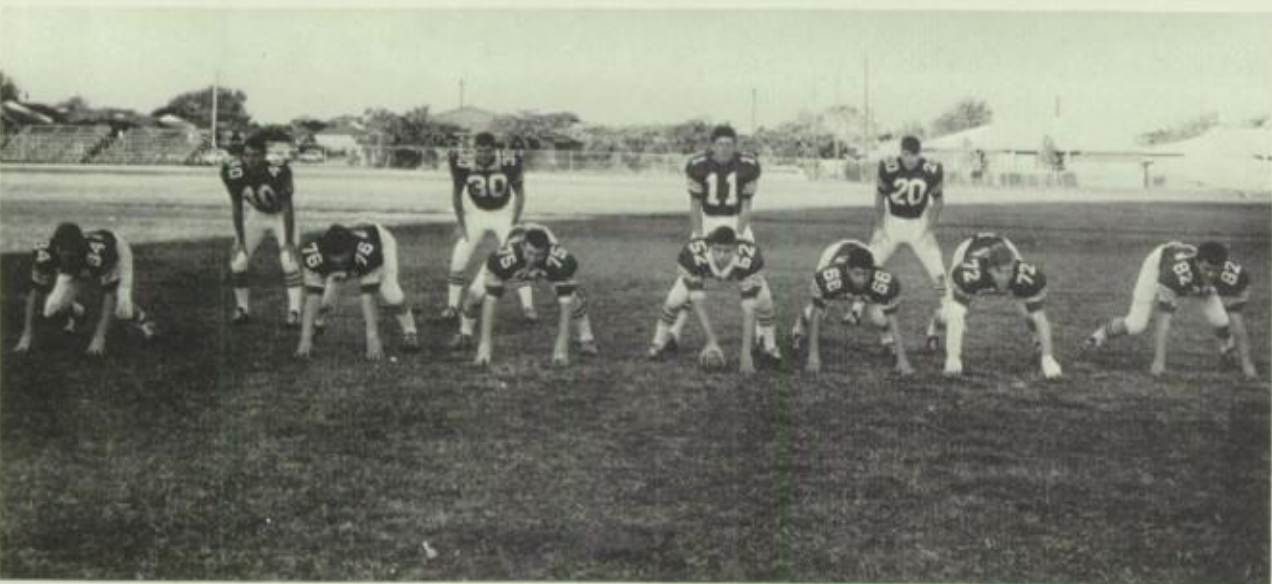

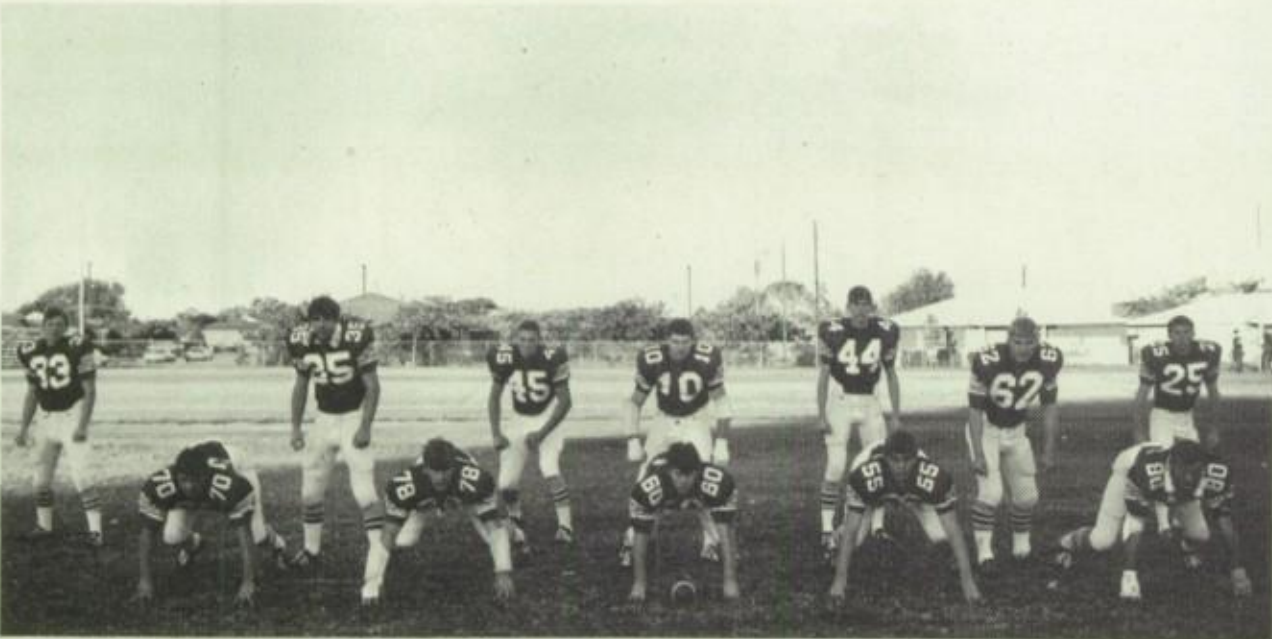

John Duren takes advantage of a hole opened by offensive linemen as he carries the ball for a score against Douglass' Trojans.

Bear defensive men Don Lepley (60) and Bill Corbin (76) team up to tackle would-be Northeast runner. Marshall won the game which kicked off the 1968 season 7-0.

Protection is provided for quarterback Johnny Duren as he passes for a first down against North-east's Vikings in the season opener.

New Head Coach Don McDonald looks on as the Bears post a 36-0 victory over Shawnee. In McDonald's first season the Bears finished with a 5-5 record.

The gridmen came back in the middle of the season to defeat Southeast's Spartans 34-32.

Grants Generals pulled one out of the fire 15-14 and Enid beat the Bears 26-8 before the season ended on a happy note with a 36-0 defeat of Shawnee.

Split-end Bob Womble was named All-State and Johnny Duren received honorable mention. Named to the All-Conference team were Jeff Jones, Jack Wallace, Bob Womble and Johnny Duren.

Bob Womble was also named All-Metro and All City, and Johnny Duren was named All-Metro.

Cross Country

Harriers Post 5-2 Record; Place Tenth at State

With a dual meet record of 5-2, John Marshall's Cross Country team finished what Coach Foster Harrington called a successful season. The harriers placed fourth in the All-City and Mid-State meets with their only season losses going to Norman and Casady. In the dual meets, each seven-man squad receives the number of points as their top five men received with the lowest score winning the dual.

The exhaustion and strain of a cross country race show on the face of senior Tony Tabor as he catches his breath after a dual meet.

Basketball

Team Struggles Through Mid-State Conference

Two major problems confronting the basketball team this year were a lack of height and the fact that there were no returning lettermen. With these disadvantages, the Bears finished at the bottom of the Mid-State conference with an 0-17 record. The courtmen look for improvement next year as nearly half of this year's team returns, including some members of the B squad. Eisenhower Junior High's team is top rated, and promises some help to the team.

Sandwiched between two Southeast Spartans, senior Mike Bergin looks for a pass as senior Len West maneuvers for position.

Team Captures State; Crowns One Champion

A winning season was topped off when John Marshall's wrestling team captured the Class AA state title in Norman.

The Bears' impressive season included eight dual wins with only one loss to U. S. Grant.

Before a packed gym, the Bear grapplers took an early lead only to fall in a close 22-21 decision.

In tournament competition, the Bears showed overall team strength by placing first in six of seven tournaments.

State Tournament

WRESTLING TEAM Front Row: Rick Dawson, Bruce Silvey, Steve Dodson, Rod Oxford, Larry Heiner, Second Row: Tony Buck, Dave Rankin, Paul Darrough, Mike McCorkle, Chuck Light. Back Row: Coach Harvey Weigle, Paul Erwin, Tom Allen, Jack Wallace, Steve Belflower, Jim Eagleston, Bill Corbin.

Top: Senior wrestler Tommy Allen concentrates on his foe, Larry Winnard of U. S. Grant, as he circles him and maneuvers for a position. Allen was defeated in the match. Left: In a predicament, Marshall wrestler Jim Wells struggles to avoid a pin by U. S. Grant wrestler, Mike Reynolds. The Grant dual was the only dual which the Bear wrestlers lost.

Advice from Coach Harvey Weigle is given Tommy Allen in his all-important match in the State Wrestling Finals. Allen was crowned champ in the 148 lb. division.

Pinning his man and collecting team points at the All-City Tournament is Rick Dawson in the 98 lb. division. Marshall placed first with Midwest City coming in second.

Wrestling

"B" WRESTLING TEAM Front Row: John Waggoner, Steve Elliot, Kenny Leonard, Wayne Bland, Steve Bernardy, Gary Ferguson. Second Row: David Verity, Bill Newman, Jim Wells, Jon Gumerson, Ronnie Stafford, Jim Sides. Back Row: Lelan Clark, coach; Sam Villyard, Mike Mumma, Tra Pippin, Darrell Moore, Robert Heard, Joe Stroud.

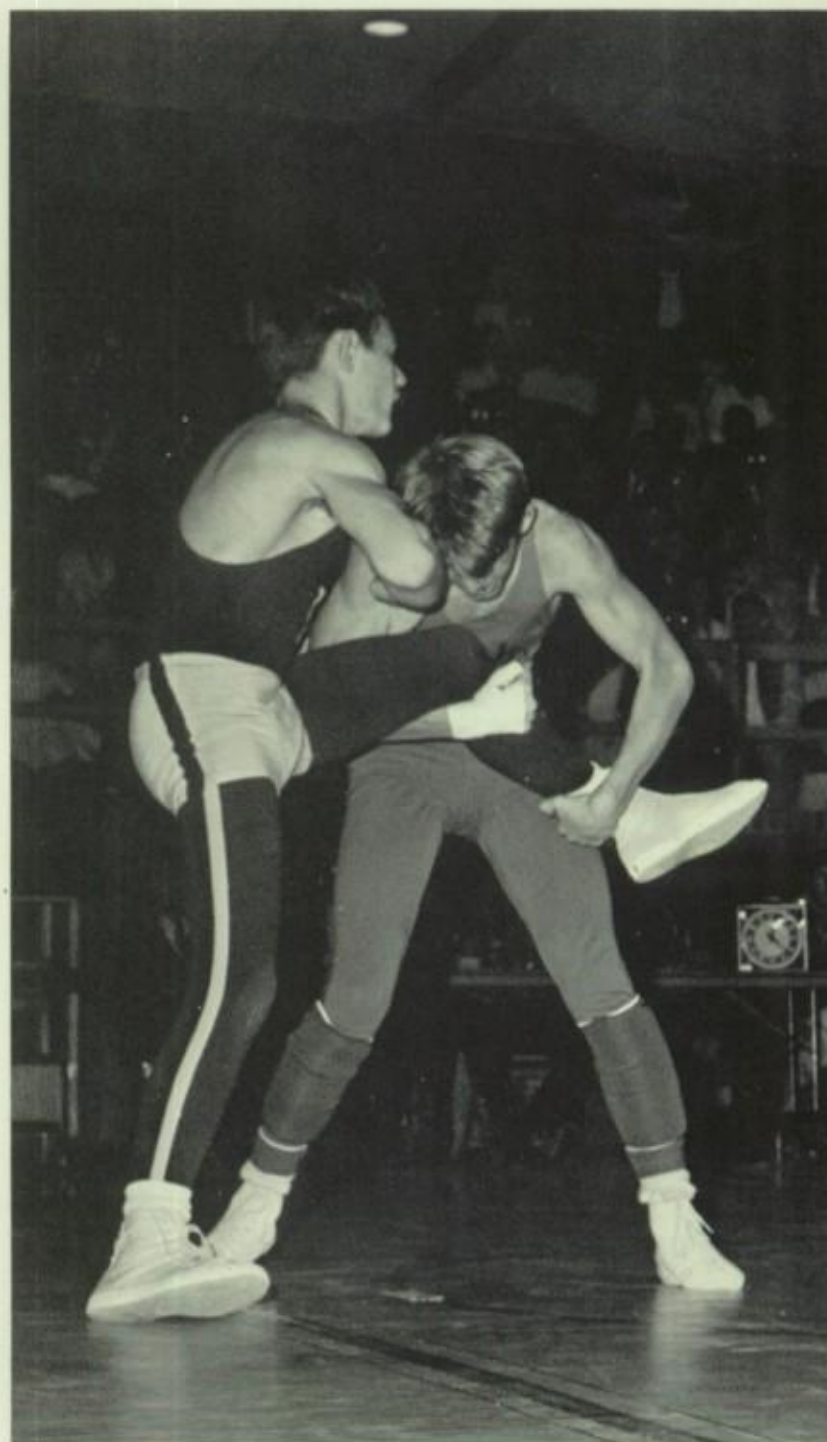

At the state semi-finals, Tommy Allen and Fred Barclow of Tulsa Washington battle for advancement to the finals in the 148 lb. division. Allen defeated Barclow and went on to win first in state.

During the State Tournament, the Bear wrestlers showed balanced strength by sending five men into the finals and four into the consolation finals.

One state champion was crowned, and eight others took second or third place which proved to be enough to keep in front of runner-up Midwest City.

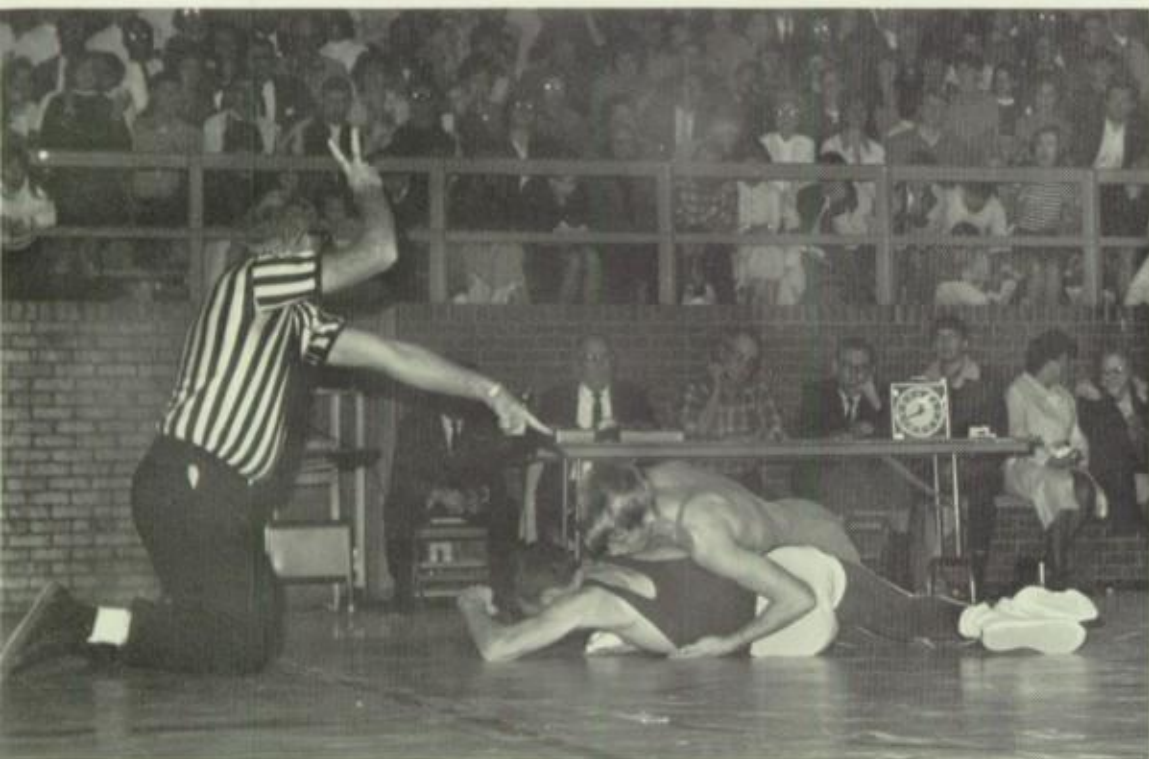

Senior Tommy Allen proved to be the difference for the Bears when he downed Midwest City's Terry Wittner at 148 lbs. Coach Harvey Weigle, coach of the year in 1968, summed up the year when he said, "They were all champs."

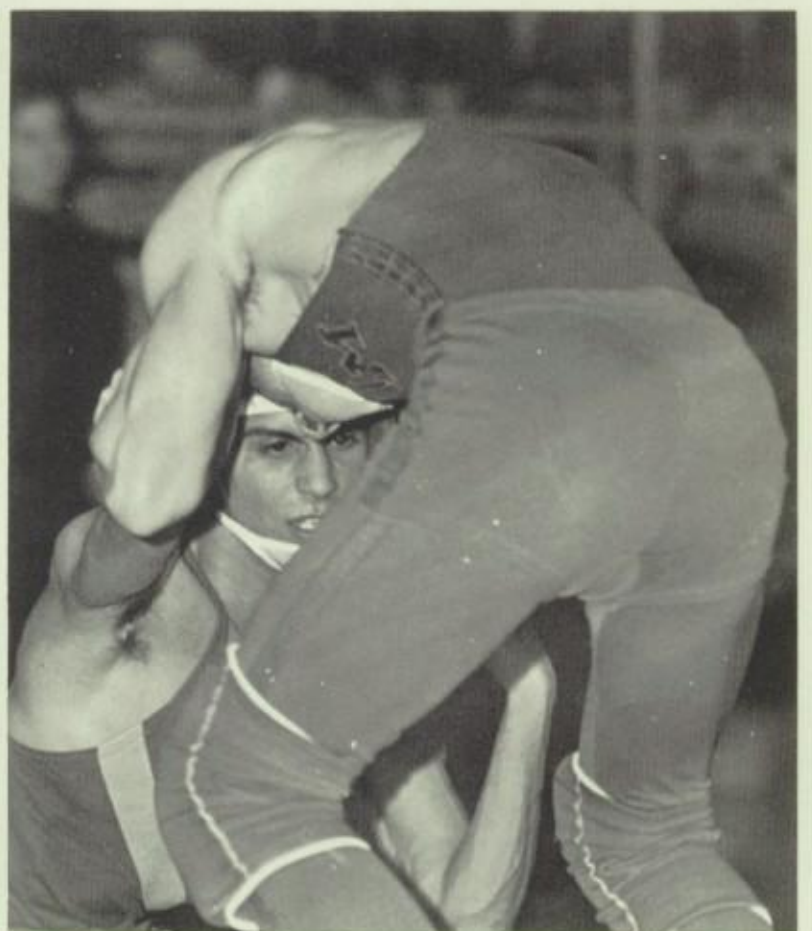

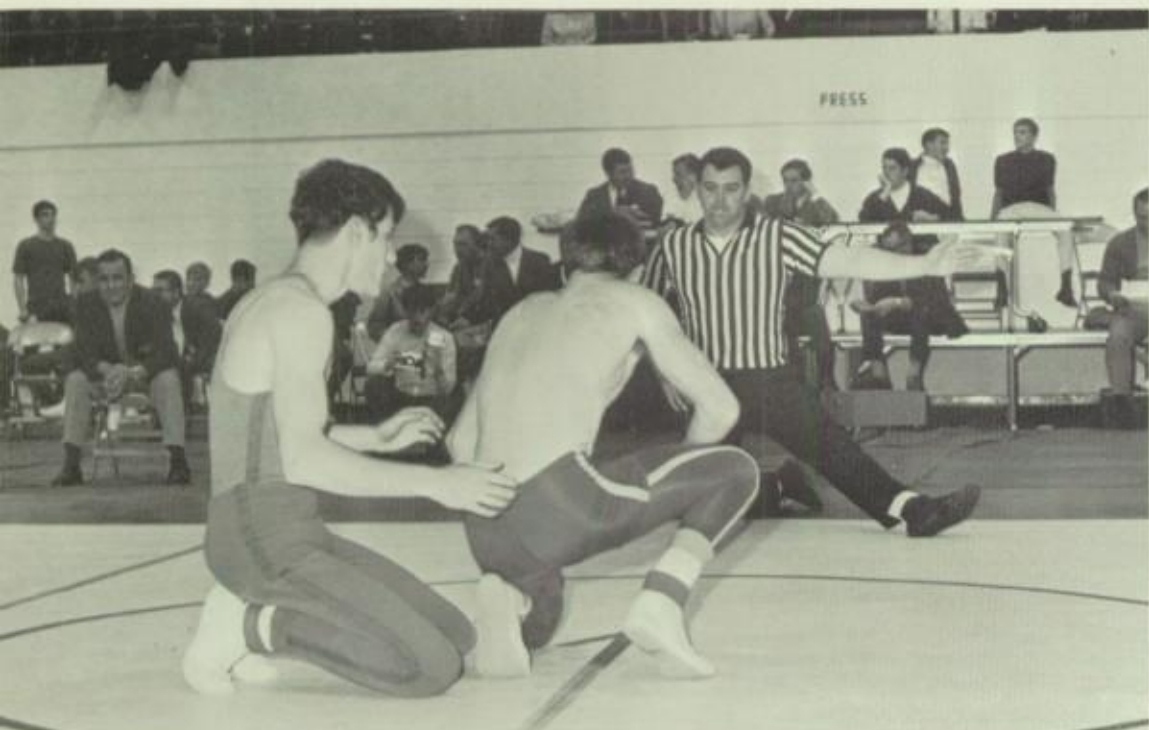

Displaying his ability as an "A" team wrestler, Paul Darrough goes for a single leg takedown against his opponent, Gary Geddes at the Edmond dual.

Sophomore Ricky Dawson rides his Northeast opponent as he guards his 2-0 lead. Dawson later went on to place third in his division at the state meet.

Another two points are scored by junior Paul Darrough as John Marshall moves toward a Mid-State victory.

Above: Concentration on breaking his opponent's hold occupies Bruce Silvey's mind as John Marshall meets U. S. Grant in a dual meet. Left: Getting into position for his first round match at the state tournament, junior Dave Rankin studies his opponent.

State Tournaments

Draw Crowds as Wrestlers, Swimmers Compete

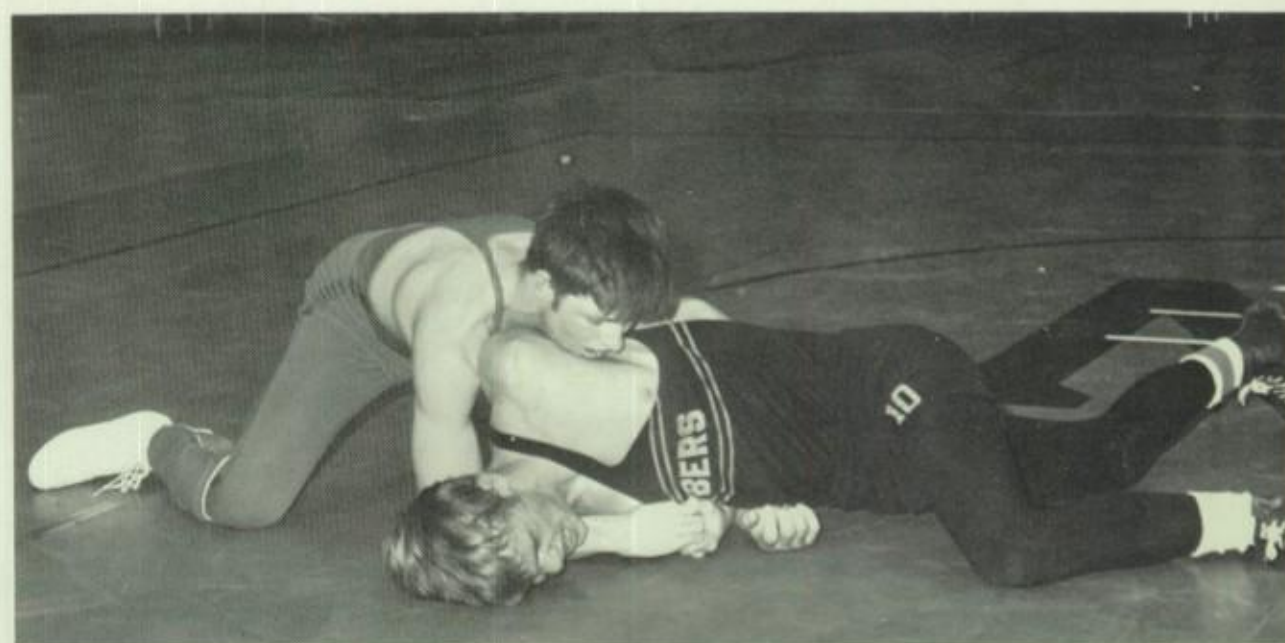

Crowds of students trekked to Norman during the first weekend in March as wrestlers and swimmers competed in the State Tournaments. The grapplers returned with their second straight state championship, and the swimmers placed sixth in the state. Marshall crowned one wrestling champion, Tommy Allen, and four Bears took second. The swimmers placed first in two events. Bobby Willoughby took first place in the 100-yard butterfly, and the 200-yard medley relay team also placed first.

Joining the column of victors at the State Wrestling tournament are Tom Allen, first; Mack McCorkle, third; Dave Rankin, second; Steve Dodson, second; and Rick Dawson, third.

Junior Dave Rankin pins his man in the first round of the AA State Wrestling Tournament. Rankin won his first two matches to qualify for the state finals where he won second place at 130 lbs.

Top: Trying hard to roll his man, sophomore Paul Erwin defeats Tom Hesser from Midwest City in the State Wrestling Tournament. Erwin ended his season with a runner-up title at the meet in the 168 lb. division. Left: Mike Wilson checks out his time of 57.6 in the 100-yard butterfly at the State Swim Meet in Norman. The time was good enough for a third place qualifying position.

Wrestler Tommy Allen decides that happiness is taking state as he receives the bracket chart from the 148 lb. division at the State Tournament.

Making the turn at the halfway point, senior Scott Lucas qualifies with the best time in 100-yard breaststroke competition at the state meet.

"We're number one!" is the cry from the stands as over 500 enthusiastic Bear fans follow the wrestlers in their bid for a second straight state wrestling championship.

Team Finishes First in City; Takes Sixth at State

A sixth place finish at the State Swim Meet in Norman ended the year for John Marshall's swimmers. Coach Foster Harrington commented that he was pleased with the team's season, pointing out that their only two dual losses were to Putnam City by very slim margins. Bears successfully defended their All-City title as they were strong in butterfly, short distance freestyle and the 200-yard medley relay. Bobby Willoughby, state butterfly champion was nominated for All-American.

Pushing for a better time in practice, senior Steve Short swims the backstroke.

Bill Prichett is off the block and swimming as Mike Wilson makes the touch at the state swim meet in Norman. Bob Womble and Bart Binning watch the competition in the 400-yard free relay.

SWIM TEAM: Front Row: Ray Southwell, Marc Walls, Ted Callahan, Paul Ernst, John Rayburn. Second Row: Loren Cronin, Bob Willoughby, Bill Pritchett, Bob Womble, Jim Lange, Scott Weirich. Third Row: George Selby, Bob Shoemaker, Mike Wilson, Todd Burke, Steve Short, Randy Sloat, Bart Binning, Bill Hough. Back Row: Scott Jones, Jerry Satterlee, Ray Allen, Carl Pojezny, Tarry Matson.

After a good swim at the Mid-State Swim Meet, senior Bill Pritchett watches as his teammates enter the final lap of the 400-yard free relay.

A quick check with the timekeeper informs Bobby Willoughby that he has just swum the 100-yard butterfly in 56.5 at the Mid-State Swim Meet.

Sophomore Bart Binning pulls hard in competition at the State Swimming Tournament. Marshall placed sixth in final competition.

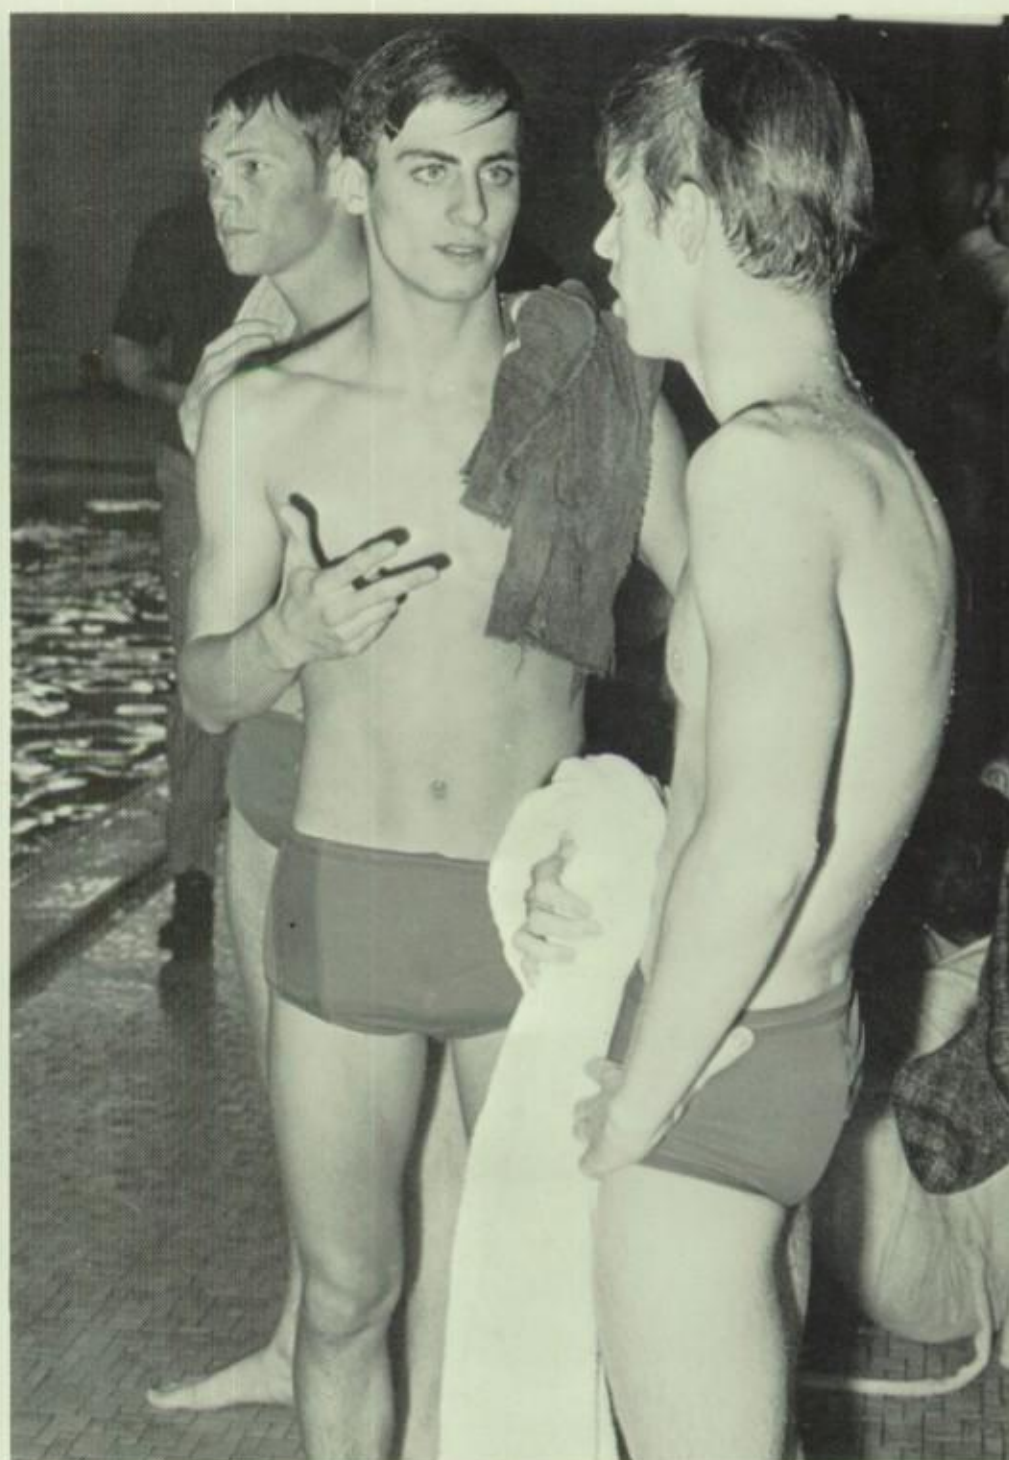

Swimming

The strain showing on his face, junior Bobby Willoughby is off the block in 100-yard butterfly competition against Putnam City in a dual meet. Willoughby was later crowned state champion in the event.

Top: Finding a place to relax in a crowd of pep club girls, Mike Wilson is intent on qualifying rounds at the State Swim Meet. Right: Checking their positions at the Mid-State Swim meet seniors Steve Short and Scott Lucas consider their chances for a first place finish.

Churning the water as he enters his first turn in competition, Scott Lucas places fifth in the 200-yard individual medley at the Mid-State Swim Meet.

In a dual match with Putnam City, senior Tarry Matson readies himself for the start of the 400-yard free. Bob Shoemaker stands by to keep time.

A moment of tension and concentration for Tarry Matson precedes the start of the 400-yard free. Bill Pritchett backs him up at the Mid-State meet.

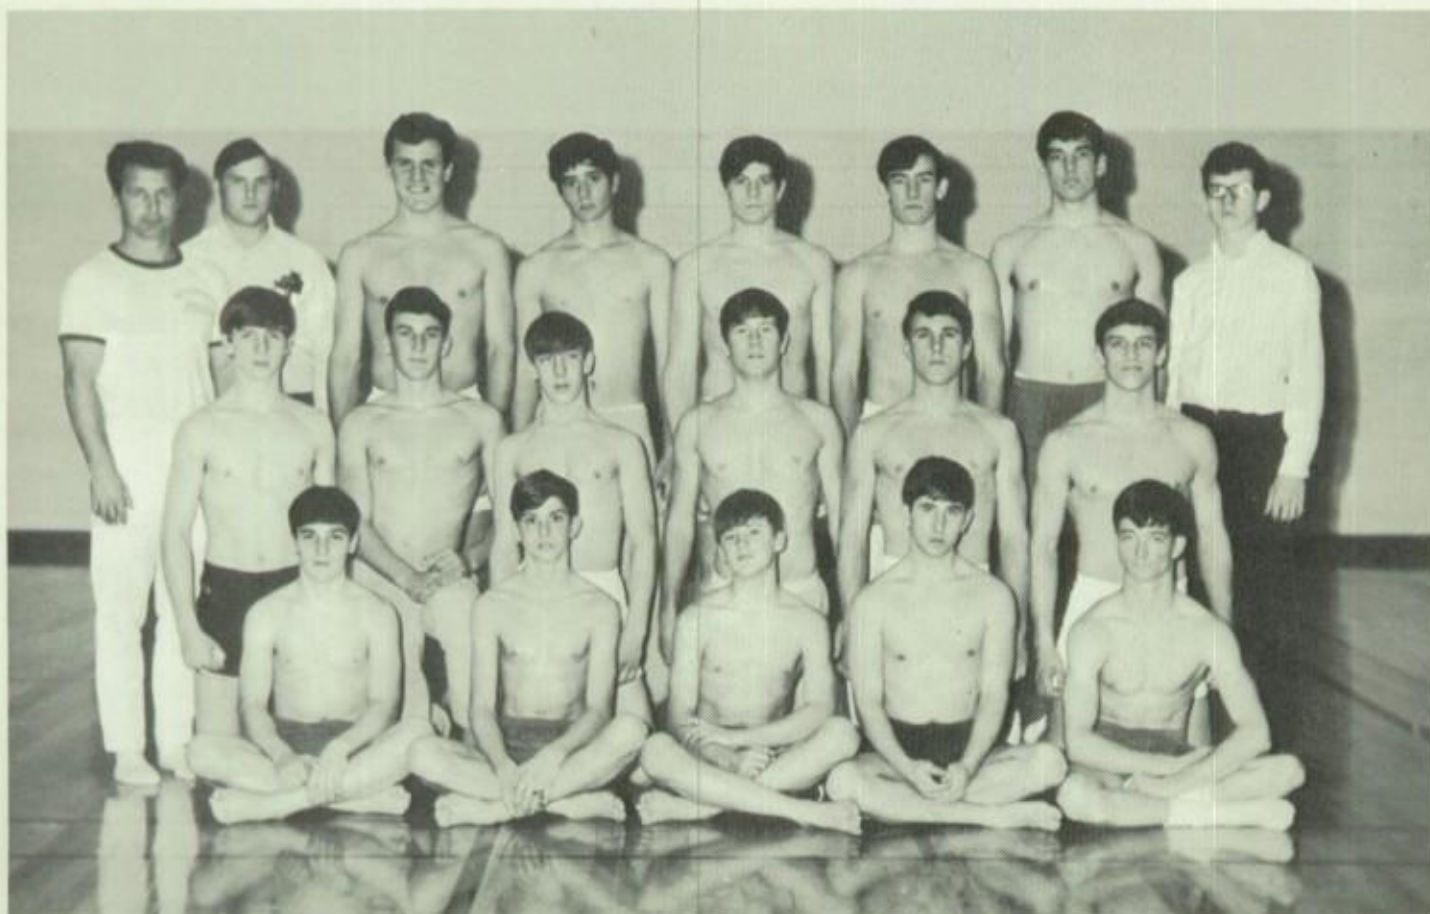

Gymnastics

Squad Inaugurates New Team Sport at Marshall

In its first year at John Marshall gymnastics attracted considerable attention. The squad was reduced to 20 boys who took part in the new sport. Events for competition included parallel bars, still rings, high bar, side horse, long horse vaulting, and free exercise. John Marshall was the first school in Oklahoma City to hold a gymnastics meet, but Coach Bob Foley expressed hope it would spread to other City high schools.

Senior Joe Land comes over the long horse in a "stoop" maneuver as he practices to become a member of Marshall's newly-formed gymnastics team.

Don Newland exhibits good form as he executes a standing back somersault.

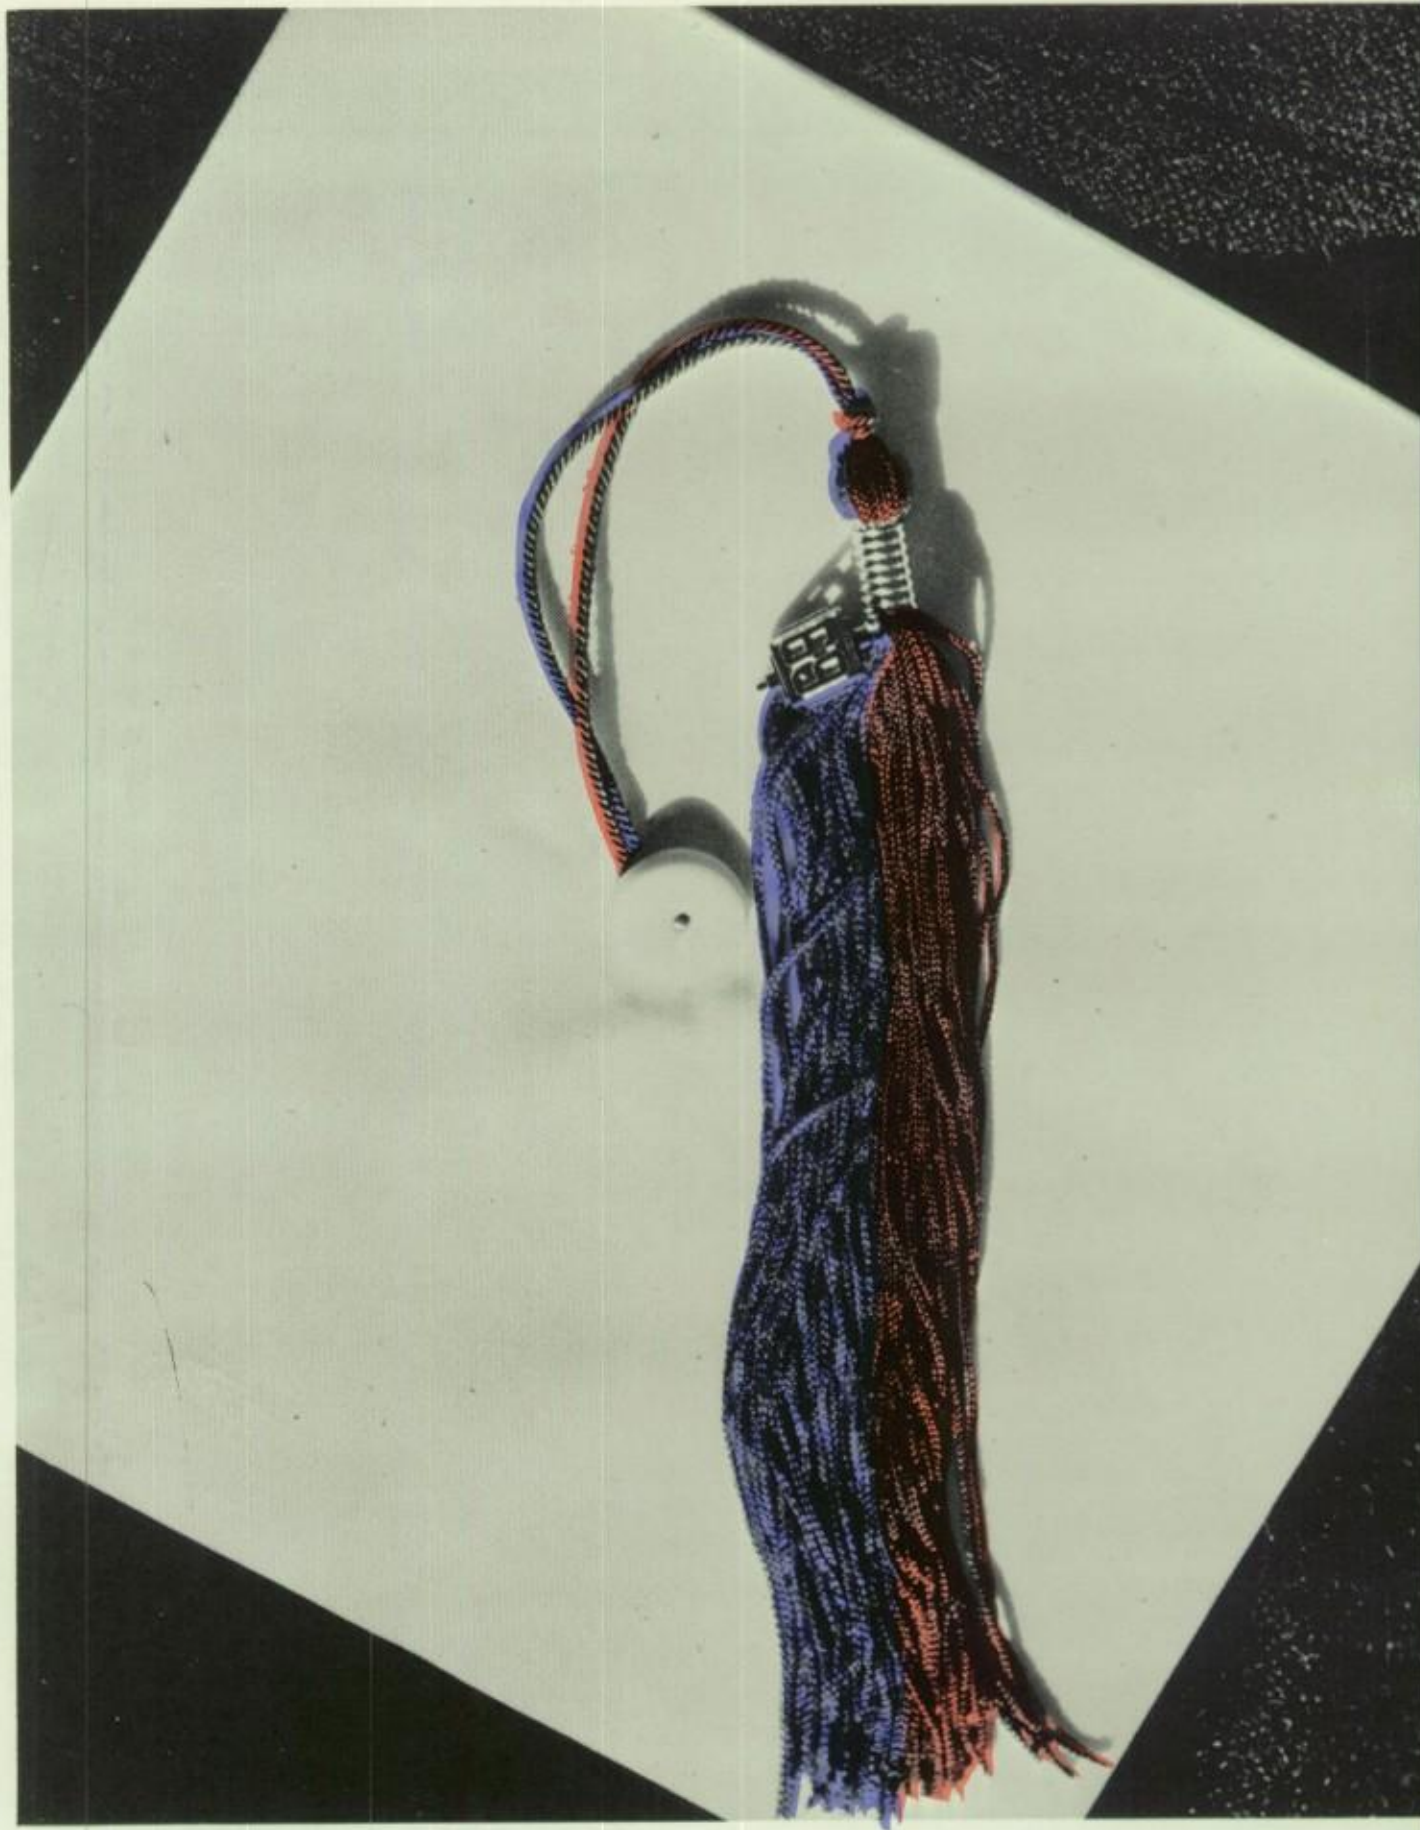

Top: Coach Bob Foley keeps an eye on Billy Hays as he practices a flying dismount from the horizontal bars. Bottom: Perfecting his style, Harley Campbell works out on the parallel bars.

As fellow gymnasts watch, Dan Valentin demonstrates a back lever during winter workouts.

Concentration, balance, and strength, all necessities for gymnasts, are shown by Sam Oliphant as he does an "L" on the parallel bars.

Sophomores

Have Largest Class; Enter Homecoming Competition

SOPHOMORE COUNCIL Front Row: Beth Miles, Joanna Trimble, Carey Gaither, Leslie Nichols, Mindy Lollar. Second Row: Nancy Hull, Debi Andrews, Diann Deardeuff, Skippi Clifton, Nancy Patterson, Pat Morgan. Back Row: Mark Burger, Lonnie Biggs, Mike Boss, Rossie Robinson, Scotty Fitzgerald, Todd Hunter.

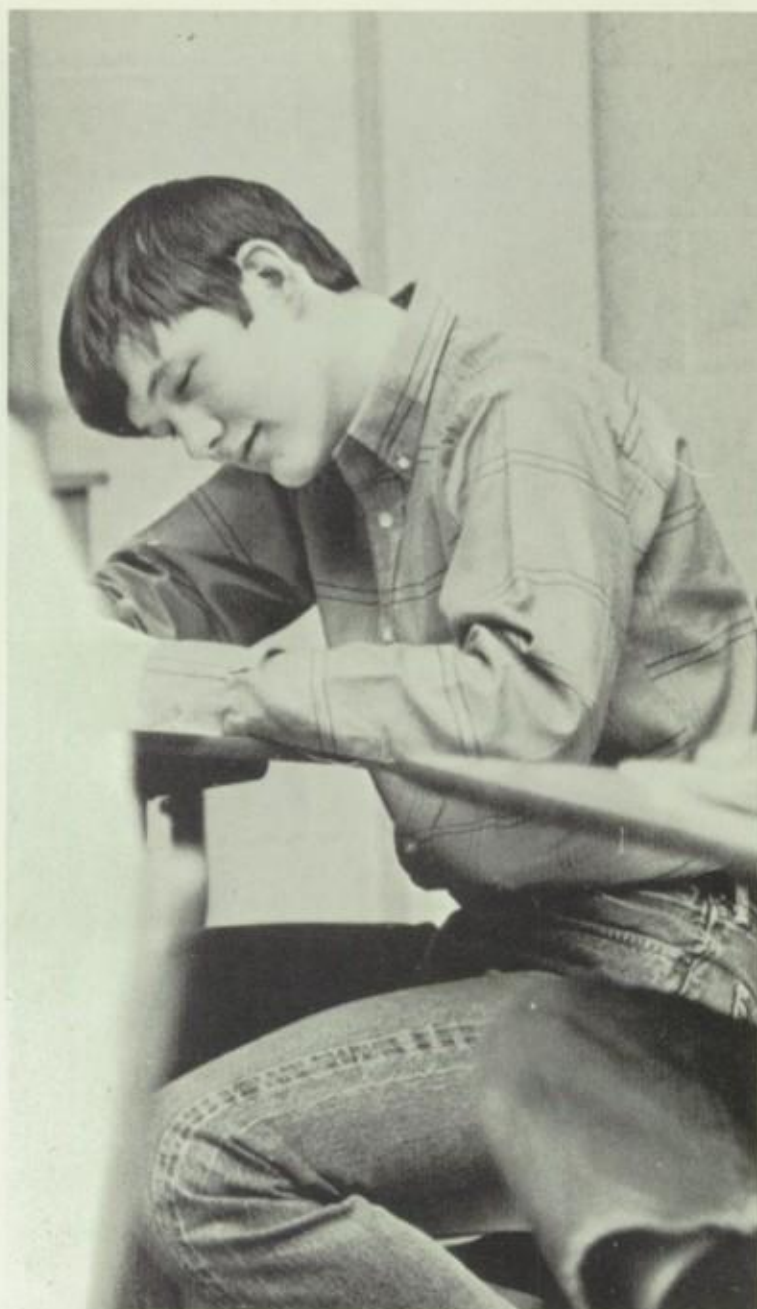

One of the largest classes in the history of John Marshall, sophomores united early in the year. They were the only class to enter a float in the 1968 Homecoming parade. Election of class officers increased momentum which was followed by collection of class dues in October. Sophomores quickly became accustomed to the routine of a school enrollment of over 2300. They joined clubs and became active participants. The late winter months found them choosing a schedule for their junior year.

The period from 8 to 8:30 each morning finds sophomore boys gathered outside the journalism room to discuss such things as the night before, plans for the weekend and unending schoolwork.

Right: Drowsy after a full day of classes, sophomore Jack Timmons finds concentrating on an assignment and staying awake a real task in Mr. Foster Harrington's fifth hour U. S. History class.

The first day of school finds harried sophomores reviewing the lists of homerooms as they concentrate on being in the right place at the right time.

Collect Class Rings in December; Attend First Prom

Juniors found overcrowded classes as the whole school experienced an increase in enrollment.

Dues of $4 were collected in November. Half of that amount went for prom expenses, and the other portion was put aside for next year's senior class treasury. Class rings were presented to juniors in a special assembly December 16. Competing against the sophomore and senior classes, juniors worked toward the campaign goal in Toys for Tots. National tests taken this year included the PSAT and National Merit Test.

Spring found juniors involved in committee meetings as plans for the prom were completed.

Because he parked in an open field to avoid the overcrowded condition of the school parking lot, George Fike finds himself talking to a traffic officer, a situation familiar to many students.

Choose College Vocation; Make Final Contributions

The largest senior class in the history of John Marshall, 625 prospective graduates spent their last year as leaders of their clubs and of the school.

During the early fall, seven seniors were recognized as National Merit semi-finalists with scores over 140. The highest score was 149. Senior dues were collected, and the class was faced with a decision on the class gift. Expectations rose as ACT and SAT tests came and passed. College moved closer as the prom and senior activities ended the year.

Finding a creative outlet for their emotions in art class are Margot Homsey and Patty Meek. Fundamentals of art are taught, then free expression is allowed for each student's interpretation.

Debaters Fred Kempf and Tom Kuehnert banter the question most prominent to JM boys — Should the Draft Laws be Abolished?, while Uncle Sam lends Fred's argument moral support.

SENIOR OFFICERS Bill Pritchett, Hist.; Linda Boyce, Treas.; Caroline Greene, Student Council Repres.; Judi Childs, Parl.; Shelly James, Sec.; Johnny Duren, Pres.; Bob Womble, V. Pres.

Above: Final instructions are carefully noted by Lorraine Leonard, contestant in the Miss Teenage Oklahoma City pageant. In the contest sponsored by WKY Radio-TV, Lorraine was named second runner up. Right: Seniors Erna Phelps and Earlene Shawver put to use knowledge of the skills they learn in vocational foods class. Student prepare full course meals for the enjoyment of the whole class.

Gavel '69 is printed on 90 lb. dull enamel in offset lithography by Hunter Publishing Co., Winston-Salem, N. C. All body copy is 12 pt. Metrolite; captions are 8 pt. Metrolite. Headlines are 18 and 24 pt. News Gothic Bold.

Gavel '69 is designed to represent all the inhabitants of John Marshall High School. Because of the varying interests, it appears as a collage. The overall mood, meant to be sophisticated and progressive, has to be broken from time to time to relate enthusiasm. Thanks goes to all staff members, Hunter representative Lloyd Tomberlin, and of course, to our advisor, Louanne Ward.

Satisfaction

when it is finished, a cheshire cat grin
 on completing your part well;
 or realizing,
 even though it is cold,
 your team IS ahead.
 A relaxing sigh
 on the inside
 that says,
 "It was good!"
 Satisfied to know
 you have earned some rest before you tackle
 the next year.

Regret

Looking back in regret
Not sadly,
but thoughtfully
over success and failure, Torn.
Glad it is past and wishing
it could be yours again
just for a moment.
Taking the last look before facing the future.

Uncertainty

The uncertainty
of a tense match,
an empty hall.
Your graduation —
leaving the familiar halls you walked,
people you loved;
yet
there is excitement in knowing they prepared you
the best they knew how;
and even though apprehensive,
you ARE ready.

YEAR OF THE BEAR
